

Economy and Convenience in the new Fairbanks Globe Valve

The new Fairbanks Globe Valve has a disc holder that can be replaced quickly and easily—which means a decided saving of time and money.

The improvement in design of this valve has been made without sacrificing any of the features that have made Fairbanks Globe Valves famous for their trouble-free service and long life—the best of bronze, more threads always engaged in the bonnet, rounded seat to prevent lodging of sediment and to ensure perfect contact.

DELEGATES TO W. A. MEETING ARE ARRIVING

WILL CONVENE HERE ALL DAY TOMORROW WITH RECEPTION THIS AFTERNOON

Delegates are beginning to arrive in the city for the seventeenth annual meeting of the Caledonia Diocesan Board of the Women's Auxiliary of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada which opens this afternoon by a reception at the Rectory by the President, Mrs. Rix, and the officers of the auxiliary.

Tomorrow morning there will be a communion service in the Cathedral at which the Bishop-Elect will be the celebrant and preacher. After the service the visitors will be welcomed by Mrs. R. L. McIntosh in the Cathedral Hall and the business of the convention will open.

Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock and reception of reports and other business will occupy most of the time of the afternoon. Tea will be served and speakers will give addresses. The sessions are open to all women interested in church work but only delegates are allowed to vote.

The officers of the local W.A. are: President, Mrs. G. A. Rix; secretary, Mrs. E. McCoskrie; treasurer, Mrs. R. L. McIntosh; U.T.O. Sec. Mrs. W. C. Orchard; literary, sec., Mrs. G. Rorie.

PRESENTATION TO MISSIONARY

CANON RUSHBROOK RECIPIENT OF WELL FILED PURSE BY CLAXTON CANNERY PEOPLE

After evening service at Claxton cannery Sunday, the management and crew assembled in the store and waylaid Rev. W. F. Rushbrook. He was captured by the ladies and led into the store where Thomas Wallace, general manager of the B.C. Packers' canneries of this district, on behalf of the Claxton management and crew presented him with a fat purse in well chosen complimentary words.

This well loved clergyman, soon to retire from the mission boat Northern Cross, spoken of as a true "Father in God" to his hundreds of isolated parishioners, who sincerely regret his withdrawal. His fine sense of soul values is like to his Master's and knows no distinction of race or social prestige.

WHAT I MIGHT HAVE BEEN

As Told to Harold C. Burr
By CHARLES DANA GIBSON

CHARLES DANA GIBSON
"I would like to have been a builder"

"A builder!" Charles Dana Gibson, illustrator and creator of a type of American womanhood known during the mauve decade as the Gibson Girl, didn't estimate the proverbial second's fraction. "But I took to the making of pictures instead. I built all the neighbors chicken coops when I was a kid in Flushing, Long Island."

Although he has been practicing drawing, his other love, since 1886, he thinks he still has a lot to learn about it. "To do it right I'd have to live 200 years. What an interesting existence a chap could have if he lasted that long! There are so many things he could do! He could just about turn every trick in that time. As it is, you put in a whole lifetime to be one thing and then die before you get the proper hang of it.

"But I still like to build houses," continued this business man, who doesn't look in the least like an artist. "I like to get out and do it with my own hands, in a gritty old pair of overalls. I always want something to show for my work. That, I expect, is just another manifestation of the urge to create. Do you know that I'm a pretty good bricklayer?"

The strong fingers that have been wielding pencil and brush for so long even more expertly than a trowel were interlocked thoughtfully between his knees. He glanced obliquely out of his high office window toward the steel and stone giants going up to tip the stars on nearby Fifth Avenue, their bright mosaic tiles glistening like jewels let into their towering walls.

"I wouldn't care to build a skyscraper," said the artist upon reflection. That's a task beyond the individual. He'd have to spread himself out too thin. It would be machine made.

"What I like to do is to design little buildings, put them together, do the labor my self. Up at Dark Harbor, Me., where I spend my summers, I've built several farm cottages, a powerhouse, a church and a school, quite a little village."

Charles Dana Gibson sold his first drawing to Life, and now he owns that humorous weekly. He confesses that he started to draw in his teens, which is longer ago than yesterday as the leaves of the calender fall. But even before that he became enamored of building things.

"I'd hang around all day, watching a man dig a cellar," he explained his start in the building trades. "I've been a boat builder, too—privately. The first craft I designed was a canoe. I guess I made mistakes of construction that a professional boat builder would instantly detect. But she floated. She floated so well that my brother and I went around Point Judith in her twice. Navigating that turbulent stretch of water was a pretty good test."

"But the building bee's become just a hobby," he confesses. "I'd like to devote more of my time to it if I could only spare it. Making pictures supplanted at a good while ago now. That's my work, and I'm still striving to do it right. But I won't live that long," concluded Charles Dana Gibson wistfully.

JOLT IS GIVEN ADAM AND EVE

PROOF FROM NILE VALLEY THAT MEN LIVED HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS YEARS AGO

ARROW AND SPEAR HEADS

FIRST DEFINITE INFORMATION THAT MEN LIVED IN THE PLEISTOCENE AGE

CHICAGO, Ill., June 19—Discovery of actual evidence in the upper valley of the Nile, which he believes finally disposes of the arguments of Fundamentalists who take the chapters of Genesis in the Bible for their scientific authority is reported here by Dr. James H Breasted.

This famed Egyptologist, who is the director of the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago, made public his findings here upon his return from the Bible lands, where many parties under his supervision are lifting the shrouds from the past. He said recent finds produce proof of the existence and activities of man in an age so distant that its study has been scarcely attempted.

Breasted's interpretation of his finds places them in a period so remote it makes the Bible seem like current literature.

Implements of chipped stone, arrow and spear heads, principally, found im-

Canadian Legion postponed general meeting will be held tonight, Wednesday, June 20 at 8 p.m.

bedded in the banks of the Nile must have been made by the hands of men who lived several hundreds of thousands of years ago, he said.

"The discovery of these implements was most important," Dr. Breasted said. "Heretofore, scientists have met only with surface indications in this region. Now we have geological evidence.

These men must have lived in the Pleistocene Age, which corresponds with the Ice Age in Europe.

NO DATE TO CREATION

"Fundamentalists argued that the traces of prehistoric man found in Western Europe were really traces of degenerate man. Our survey traces prehistoric human implements found in the Bible land of Egypt imbedded in earth strata which furnished the data to determine their geological age.

"I recently received a letter from a Fundamentalist who wrote: "I don't believe that men existed before the date of creation given in the Old Testament.'

"Of course, there was no date of creation given in the Old Testament."

Archbishop Ussher, Primate of Ireland, Professor Breasted pointed out, about 1650 formulated a scheme of biblical dates which some one inserted as marginal notes in some editions of the King James version.

"However, evidence we have found in Egyptian river valleys antedated the Archbishop's dates by several hundreds of thousands of years."

The discoveries in the Nile Valley are only a part of the university's field work in the Orient. Other expeditions are at work in Palestine and Asia Minor. The Hittite expedition, Dr. Breasted reported, has uncovered the first skeletons of pre-Greek days found in Asia Minor.

Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Young and family will arrive in the city at the end of the week from Hazelton and sail Saturday night on the Prince George for Vancouver enroute to Koksilah, Vancouver Island, to which Mr. Young has been transferred in the United Church ministry.
