General Nobile and seven others thrown to the HALIBUT SALES ice when gondola snapped from its Situation critical

TING'S BAY, June 11.—Bearing two of their number who were injured when the Italia came down on the ice of the Arctic Ocean, the crew of the dirigible is making a perilous progress toward land. The eighteen men have been divided into two parties to open water leads among the ice floes, making progress slow and dangerous. At times the men are borne out of their course as the wind and sea currents drift the floes south or east. When the drift is toward the west there is that much more gain for the refugees.

Boats to get the refugees from their predicament constitute the need of the moment. The crew is provisioned for six weeks. This was revealed in radio conversation. Speed is urged.

LONDON, June 11.-A Rome despatch says two members of the crew of the Italia were injured when the gondola snapped from its beam. General Nobile and seven others were thrown to the time. Both groups are apparently not far from Northeast sight of the other and it is feared their situation is critical.

THE Canadian National steamship dock was crowded Sunday evening with people out to greet Premier J. D. MacLean on his arrival here on the steamer Catala, making his first visit to the north since his elevation to the premiership. On being asked what the crowd was there for he seemed surprised and explained that he did not see why as he was only an ordinary citizen trying to do the country's business in the best way he knew how. However he said he was glad to meet them all.

Dr. MacLean was taken in hand by members of the local Liberal association headed by William Brown, *----

RMY OFFICER FROM THERE TELLS OF CONDITIONS WHICH PRE-VAIL IN COUNTRY

VICTORIA, June 11. - According to Captain G. L. Coleridge of the British Navy, who has just recently arrived from China, an iron hand is necessary unity. Most of the people in that country are uneducated and they speak a number of different languages. Since 1912 there have been eight presidents and 42 cabinets.

There is very little patriotism in that country, according to the Captain. Trade was ruined and industry was badly injured as a result of internal dissension. He told of what happened to Hankow when Britain renounced her concession there. The famous bund now reeked with filth, banks were closed and credit was gone.

Captain Coleridge prophesied the coming of a strong ruler who would bring the country back to a better situation.
