POPULATION OF CANADA TODAY

ESTIMATE IS 9,658,000 AND OF BRITISH COLUMBIA 583,000

OTTAWA, Aug. 11.—Canada's population is estimated at 9,658,000 by the bureau of statistics, an increase of 139,000 over the estimate of last year.

The population of British Columbia is put at 583,00 against last year's estimate of 575,000.

The 1921 census put the Dominion population at 8,788,000.

PATTULLO MAJORITY SO FAR STANDS 88

Official Count Following Recent Provincial Election Is Still Proceeding

Ballots so far checked in the official count as a result of the recent provincial election give Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Liberal candidate, a majority of 88 over James B. Thompson, Conservative, the total voting standing at 1,260 for Pattullo and 1,172 for Thompson. This accounts for all but a very few ballots which will probably not change the general standing to any great extent. The official count is proceeding and will not be completed for a few days.
