U. S. POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

What strikes the ordinary observer in regard to the United States political campaign for the presidency is the similarity between the public utterances of the candidates there and in this country. Each claims to be the friend of everybody and ready to do anything they think the people may happen to want and yet hedging sufficiently to give them a way out in case they should decide to change the policy of the party.

What seems clear, however, is that Al Smith is against prohibition as at present in force in the States and Hoover is for it. Beyond that, there seems little difference in policy between the two parties, judging by their speeches.

THE PARKS BOARD

The question of the efficiency of the Parks Board has been questioned, it seems. When two local parks were formed, one at the Salt Lakes and the other on the hillside above Prince Rupert, some authority had to be constituted to have charge of them, seeing that the timber there was not cut and that people did not trespass on them to the injury of the rights of the people generally. It had been subject of complaint that no one had control at the Salt Lakes and that visitors there could do as they wished even if it interferred with the common rights. Now the Salt Lake park is in charge of the Parks Board which has delegated the authority over the lake to the Swimming Club. This gives them the right to make improvements and if necessary to make a charge for admission to any part of it for any specific purpose.

The Parks Board is not interested necessarily in the development of any particular scheme of improvement but has power to delegate authority to carry out such schemes. This is much more convenient than going to Victoria for authority. The Government can change the Board members at any time but just now there are two strong supporters of the Government on it, one of which is the defeated candidate in the recent election, to whom the Government, under the present system, look for advice in such matters.

Good Progress Made on Three Marmot River Mines Recently Taken Over by Premier Company

Progress generally throughout the district is most marked, but nowhere so much as on the Marmot river, says the Stewart News. Those who have not visited the section for a year or so cannot help but be struck with the enormous strides being made in this section, principally as a result of the work being carried out by the Premier preparatory to their Silverado, Prosperity, Porter-Idaho operations.

The chairman outlined the situation as he saw it showing that the matter had been taken up with Hon. T. D. Pattullo prior to the election but that the situation had changed somewhat since the election. Also it had been suggested to them that they should take the matter up with the Parks Board as the constituted authority in regard to Provincial Parks in this district.
