KERGIN ACCEPTS THE NOMINATION

TELLS PEOPLE OF CONSTITUENCY WHY THEY SHOULD VOTE LIBERAL AT ELECTION

(Mail Correspondence)

ANYOX, June 15.—H. F. Kergin, Liberal member for this constituency in the last Legislature, was again chosen to contest the constituency on behalf of Liberalism in the Atlin district at a convention held here this week, O. G. MacIntyre presiding. The convention was unanimous, no other name being presented.

In accepting the nomination Mr. Kergin thanked the convention for the honor they had done him. It was the third occasion on which they had so honored him and he appreciated the trust they reposed in him.

"I believe throughout this province there is going to be a victory greater than ever before for the Liberal party," declared Mr. Kergin. He then told of some of the things they had done in giving women the vote, the mother's pensions and other laws of particular interest to women such as the minimum wage act. Then the labor bureaus were established, institutions were established such as the sanitarium at Kamloops, schools for deaf and dumb.

The parting with the late Premier was recounted by the candidate and the choosing of the new one. Dr. MacLean had already made good and now he was asking the people of the province to allow him to continue. He felt sure the people would grant him this extension by voting for the Liberal candidates.

At the election two things were asked:

1. Are you for or against the reform legislation that has been passed by this government?

2. Are you for or against the sane and sound financing this Government has carried on?

Those who favor these things should vote for the Liberal candidates and those against them should vote for the opposition.

LIBRARY WORK AS PROFESSION

LOCAL LIBRARIAN URGES YOUNG PEOPLE TO CONSIDER IT IN CHOOSING LIFE WORK

In discussing library work as a profession Miss Cruickshank, local librarian, told members of the Rotary Club of the growth of the library movement, in which the United States led. She outlined the scope of the work and particularly told of the beginning made in Canada at Toronto and McGill University in training librarians. She explained the course of studies and the organizations both in the United States and Canada which forward the work.

"In closing," said Mrs. Cruickshank, "I wish to say a word about the future of the profession in this country and to make an appeal to young Canadians, both boys and girls to consider it in deciding upon their life work. It is true that there is now little opportunity, that there are few positions and that many of them still go to untrained workers; but it is a condition sure to pass away soon. As in the United States, the trained worker will supplant the untrained, the low salaries which accompany amateur work will disappear and the occupation will rise to the dignity of a real profession. It is necessary to recognize, however, that a love of books is not sufficient to make a good librarian. As in all occupations there is much drudgery and much hard work. I remember the remark of a librarian who deplored the mental calibre of candidates for a position. She said: 'I am fed up with these girls who expect to get work under me because they say they like books. I tell them that in this library they can hate books if they wish but there is one thing they must like and that is work.' Among the public there are many misapprehensions varying from those who think a librarian has nothing to do but read new books all day to those who believe it incumbent upon him to read every book in the collection, a fate too horrible to contemplate.

"Any young Canadian who takes up library work may feel sure that in a few years there will be for him a widening field although at first he may have to work across the line for a time; the silver lining to that cloud is the excellent experience he will gain in the large American libraries.

"What does library work offer to its votaries? It offers the opportunity of service for those who enjoy that field; it offers an academic career, a life among books for those whose taste runs in that direction; it offers opporunity for educational work for those of an educational bent who do not wish to teach; for those who feel the desire to contribute a little toward the amelioration of life to add to the happiness of humanity, it gives an unrivalled opportunity. I shall be glad if anything I have said shall draw one or two recruits to this profession which many of those engaged in it consider the most attractive in the whole field of human endeavor."

TERRACE PLANS CELEBRATION DOMINION DAY

BIG COMMUNITY PICNIC TO BE HELD WITH SPORTS AND GAMES AND DANCE IN EVENING

BUILD DRESSINGROOMS

INTERESTING PAPER ON BEETLES AND BUGS READ BY RESIDENT OF DISTRICT

TERRACE, June 15.— The monthly meeting of the Terrace Women's Institute was held on Tuesday afternoon in Progress Hall with the president, Mrs. Seamen in the chair and a good crowd of members in attendance. The treasurer's report showed that fifty dollars had been realized during May as a result of institute activities.

It was agreed to go ahead with the building of four dressing rooms at Lakelse Lake, and these will probably be ready for use by the week-end.

It was decided to co-operate with the Native Sons and have the annual institute community picnic and Dominion Day celebration on July 2, on Little's Island, south of town. The Native Sons have agreed to take charge of the sports program and the raising of money for prizes while the institute will superintend the picnic lunch.

Everyone in the community is invited to attend and to bring along a basket lunch. A committee of ladies composed of Mesdames Gilbert, Little, Burnett, Pohle and Attree were appointed to have charge of arrangements. The Native Sons are staging a public dance in the evening at which the institute will do the catering.

Judges were appointed for the children's gardens and the initial inspection will be made sometime soon.

At the request of the fair board a committee of three, Mesdames Gilbert, H. King and Dover were appointed to assist in preparing the district exhibit to be sent to New Westminster fair.

IMMIGRATION

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Burnett read an interesting paper on Immigration, pointing out the necessity and advantage of encouraging immigration and the steps being taken by the government to secure the right kind of immigrants.

BEETLES AND BUGS

Mrs. W. W. Hippisley read a very instructive paper on local beetles and bugs, describing their habits and telling which were destructive and which helpful to local gardens and trees. This is a subject on which Mrs. Hippisley has made a special study, having at various times done research work for the University of B.C. and sent in many important specimens.

A vote of thanks was accorded her for her paper and she was asked to leave it on the files of the institute where it might be referred to by anyone interested.

Appreciation of the untiring efforts of both president and secretary in the institute interests was voiced.

Following the meeting Miss Donald and Mrs. Attree served refreshments.

LOG SCALING PICKING UP

Though log scaling in Prince Rupert forestry district during the month of May just past standing at a total of 9,073,175 feet came up nearly to the figure of 9,258,341 feet for the same month in 1927, the total for the year to date still lags far behind last year's record standing at 18,226,161 feet as compared with 37,580,020 feet for the first five months of 1927. During the past month there was a noticeable increase in the scaling of coast spruce but a large decrease in hemlock as compared with May 1927 while other varieties stood around the same level as they did twelve months ago.

Marked increase over last year in forest products such as poles, piles, etc. is still to be noted. The production of poles this year to date is about double of last year's output while hemlock piles show a similar ratio of increase. Continued pole and pile operations in the central interior and on the Queen Charlotte Islands are largely responsible for this.

Following are the figures for log scaling in Prince Rupert district during May and for the year to date:

	May	Season to Date
