Man Bent on Lifework of Poultry Breeding Now University President

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Hens may lead one far from the barnyard.

Students of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph were told this by W. Frank Jones, president of Borden Co. Ltd., who advised them to be prepared for "surprises" and illustrated the advice with a story.

The story concerns Dr. G. Edward Hall, president of the University of Western Ontario.

Dr. Hall came to OAC in the late 1920s, bent on a lifework of poultry breeding.

A talent for research, however, brought him to the attention of the late Sir Frederick Banting, co-discoverer of insulin, and led him into medical research and the study of medicine.

He returned to the laboratory and joined Sir Frederick in aviation research. Sir Frederick was killed in an airplane crash in 1941. Dr. Hall and others continued the work.

THROUGH RCAF

This led him into power dives in airplanes; through Italian naval defences in the Mediterranean in a submarine; to director of aviation medical research, RCAF, and the rank of group captain; to the Air Force Cross and to the American Legion of Merit.

Horse Tells Reporter She's Going to Marry

TORONTO (CP)—Dorothy Howarth, reporter for the Toronto Telegram, interviewed Lady Wonder, the talking horse at Richmond, Va., whose predictions have become famous.

Among the information Miss Howarth gleaned from an interview with the prophetic mare, told in a copyright front-page story, was:

"Ambrose Small was murdered. Mickey McDonald is dead. Canada will have an election next year. The Liberals will win it. Edwin Alonzo Boyd will not try another jail break. The Korean war will end in 13 months and I'll be married in a year's time."

Ambrose Small was a Toronto theatre owner whose disappearance in 1919 has never been solved. Mickey McDonald, long viewed as Canada's No. 1 criminal, escaped from Kingston penitentiary Aug. 14, 1947. Boyd did the same thing in a minor way by escaping from Toronto's Don Jail a couple of times in recent years. He's now in Kingston serving a life term for bank robbery.

Nothing is known publicly about Miss Howarth's matrimonial prospects.

Then he asked if Gary could be found.

"Yes," said Lady.

When Mrs. Hayman learned of Lady's responses, she said:

"Oh God, I hope he's safe, I hope he's safe."
