ST. ANDREW'S ENTERTAINMENT

Excellent Program Given Last Night by Local Talent in Westholme Theatre

The second annual concert and variety show of the St. Andrew's Society in the Westholme Theatre last night was a really good entertainment and was fully enjoyed by an audience which practically filled the commodious assembly place. It was the first time that many of those present had been in the Westholme Theatre since it recently underwent extensive renovations and alterations and the house, both inside and out, was found to present a very attractive appearance.

Members of the St. Andrew's Society gave the entertainment their general patronage. The program was excellently arranged and included two one-act sketches as well as a number of vocal and instrumental numbers and variety acts by well known and popular local artists.

The first item consisted of novelty piano solos by Al Smail, who was in his usual skillful form. Geo. Mitchell assisted in putting on this number.

The singing of "Annie Laurie" by a local quartette consisting of J. E. Davey, J. A. Teng, Morris Blott and Alex Clapperton proved very acceptable. "Hey Diddle Diddle" with variations was given as a brief encore.

Miss Marjorie Lancaster displayed her well known talent in the playing of Liszt's "Liebestraum" as a piano solo and was called upon for an encore.

A Cracknell a new addition to local talent gave a stump speech entitled "Cats" which went over well.

Mrs. Jarvis McLeod was never in better voice, singing of "Callie Herrin" in the costume of a fish woman. She gave "Comin' Through the Rye" as an encore and this proved equally acceptable. Mrs. H. C. Fraser was accompanist.

The first half of the program was brought to a close with a sketch "Documentary Evidence," in which A. A. Cannon and Miss Irene Morrison took the principal roles. They kept the audience in an uproar of mirth. Miss Cathie Irvine was the third member of the cast.

Second Half

One of the outstanding numbers of the whole program was the singing of "Lassie of Mine" by a mixed quartette, consisting of Mrs. Jarvis McLeod, Mrs. H. C. Fraser, John E. Davey and Alex Clapperton. "Kerry Dances" was offered as a much appreciated encore.

Miss Annie Gilchrist demonstrated her tersichoran skill in "Russian Mazurka" and the audience would not be denied an encore.

Her playing of Rubenstein's "Melody in F" fully indicated that Miss Molly Lawrence is a coming violinist. She has excellent technical skill for her age and expression was good. She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Nellie Lawrence, and gave the Intermezzo from "Cavalliera Rusticana" for an encore.

The sketch "Love in a Cupboard," bringing the program to a close, kept the audience in ripples of merriment from start to finish. D. B. Finn and Miss Etta Robertson, making their first appearance on the local stage, acquitted themselves with credit in the two principal roles. Miss Marjorie Lancaster and James Farquhar, in lesser parts, were in their usual good form.

The Westholme Theatre played an overture and entre acte music in splendid manner. The members of the orchestra are Charles P. Balagno, pianist and leader; A. F. Williams, violinist; Robert Greenfield, cornet and saxophone, and W. F. Browne, percussion.

Alex Clapperton was responsible for the arrangement of musical numbers on the program while the sketches were under the supervision of A. A. Cannon. Geo. Mitchell was business manager; Dr. J. R. Gosse, house manager, and E. J. Smith, cashier. Acting as ushers were Misses Caroline Mitchell, Jean Grieve, Molly Cross, Frances Cross, Margaret Maguire and Laura Frizzell.

A PLEA FOR SIDEWALKS

By May Ness

When people arrive in a city or town they comment on the sidewalks sooner or later. One's attention is almost immediately drawn to the condition of the sidewalks, as they play an important part in the pedestrian's daily life. On arriving at a city good sidewalks impress one favorably towards the place; as they mean beauty to a city; foot-comfort, safety and a much longer life to the shoe.

On the other hand poor sidewalks disgust people and are the cause of much hard feeling among those who have occasion to use them.

Step into a street in a city with poor sidewalks and take notice of the many incidents occurring daily. A mother pushing a baby carriage runs into a crack, what might this every day occurrence lead to? An injured baby, a broken carriage or the momentary loss of temper on the part of the good lady and much embarrassment. Innocent children play in the streets unaware of the great danger they are incurring. To step on a rusty nail may lead to blood poisoning and from this on to more dreadful things. It is a crime that could easily be eliminated, decreasing some of the hazards encountered in our daily life. Elderly persons stepping through gaps in the sidewalks are more often than not injured for life.

In places where the city has neglected to lay sidewalks we find automobile drivers and pedestrians both highly strung and nervous. If the condition exists for long, both become careless, resulting in accidents. Trouble, grief and resentment is the reward to each party, though neither maybe in fault. The greatest hazard of all lies at the school door, when hundreds of pupils run carelessly into the street without a moment's thought as to the consequences. These risks should be and will be brought to an end in the near future.

Now turn your attention to the city with an abundance of well constructed sidewalks. There are none of these horrible accidents. The population carries on with its tasks with a harmony that is astonishing. The people are in a better frame of mind. The children come and go to school in perfect safety.

Good sidewalks inspire people to realise their own domestic ideals, thereby the general appearance of the street is improved. The city that can boast of good sidewalks can also boast of good-looking shops. One might say that good sidewalks are the making of a city.

Therefore it is to be seen that an abundance of well constructed sidewalks is an essential part of any city. They play one of the most important parts in our daily life. In the past they have been shamefully neglected and have only led to disaster. It is such a great luxury that people are to be denied foot comfort? Is it not worth a few extra dollars to have serviceable sidewalks which lead to the making of a bigger and better city, and which not only improve and beautify the general appearance of the municipality but put the people in a better frame of mind? Good sidewalks in the end lead to prosperity.

CAPTURING WIFE BY BEING BEATEN EGYPTIAN CUSTOM

KHARTOUM, Egypt, Oct. 24.—A quaintly-wild custom for the capture of young maid's hearts has survived in the Sudan down to the present day. Where it is a case of two young men enamored of the same girl, they subject themselves to the "mobatanah," a love test of a savagely cruel nature.

The rivals rail down blows on one another's backs either with a whip or stick, the weapon having been agreed upon by them in advance. The one who bears up the longest under the punishment takes home the bride and receives the title of "Achu-el-Banat" ("Brother of the Daughters"). Although these contests have been prohibited by the police, they continue to be held in secret.
