GALL STONES

There are a great many conditions that are supposed to be incurable, or at best, operatable; for instance, gall stones.

This condition is brought about by an abnormal chemistry of the fluid contents of the gall bladder.

By my natural methods, I overhaul the entire system, restore nerve enervation to the entire organism which ensures a 100 per cent normal chemistry. By restoring the chemistry of the gall bladder to normal, these gall stones will dissolve to after spending several days at Katum posed to extensively beautify the square operation for the removal of tonsils in such an extent that they will be able to pass through the bile duct into the small intestine and thus be eliminated by the body through natural channels. Up to the present time I have cured every case of gall stones that have come under my care. Dr. C. O. McKay, D.C.
