FLOOD MENACE IS LESSENER

COLD WEATHER PREVENTS FURTHER RISE IN WATERS IN QUEBEC PROVINCE

MONTREAL, April 10.—The flood which menaced many sections of Quebec during the past two days is subsiding, though several districts are suffering damage from water backed up by the ice jams in the rivers of the province. Cold weather prevails, preventing further rise in many rivers in the Eastern townships, which were the hardest hit by the floods. Water levels are becoming hourly lower.

Some sections of Montreal are still in the grip of the flood caused by the overflow of the St. Lawrence behind a huge ice jam.

The death list of the province still stands at four.

SHIP MAY NOT CHANGE COURSE

RIGHT OF WAY MAY BE HELD AND OTHER VESSEL RESPONSIBLE FOR ACCIDENT

WASHINGTON, April 10.—An important rule in the navigation of ships was laid down by the supreme court today, which decreed that vessels having the right of way are not required to change their course to prevent a collision. The Svea had the right of way and signaled but held to her course. The lower federal court held that the Svea should have changed her course when it became evident that the Newport intended to hold her course. The collision was off San Francisco.
