The activities and growing influence of the Central Workers and Peasants Relief Committee for flood victims were not to the liking of the Polish authorties and detrimental to their policy of oppression of Ukrainian workers and seasants and extermination of their organizations. Therefore they have decided to suppress the relief work of this ommittee. At the end of November Lemberg police dissolved the committee and arrested all of its members, demanding that money left for distribuion among flood victims be turned over to the government relief agencies. TOE was "a jolly good fellow" - one of the boys -- a "regular guy." And he was fond, too, of the good fellowship which "a little snort" now and then stimulated. When Joe married he was a very successful Realtor, his opinion sought after by those engaged in "big business." Marion knew that he was not an advocate of the White-Ribbon League when she married him - but she had never seen him under the influence of the "Cup of Bacchus." Her disillusionment came three months after their marriage. Joe disappeared for three days - and returned home a penitent, full of the age-old conventional vows of "never again"! And everything was lovely - until the next time! But that "next time" lasted a month - and Joe found himself out of a job! For a full year thereafter, "The water-wagon" was Joe's constant friend, during which time he became a proud Daddy. But such an important event in any redblooded man's career, he argued, demanded a celebration. And being "a jolly good fellow," the celebration developed into a permanent orgy of drinking. For five years after that it was a case of "On again, off again" the water wagon - fired from this job, starting afresh with that, moving here and there, until . . . one day Marion took the reins in her own hands and the sparks began to fly!

What did Marion do? You'd be surprised! Did she preach temperance? She did not! Did she leave him flat? Wrong again!
