MANY BRITISH IN BIG SWIM

RECENT ENTRANTS AT TORONTO FOR MARATHON FROM AUSTRALIA AND ENGLAND

TORONTO, Aug. 21.—An unprecedented array of British athletes will strive to capture the world's long distance swimming championship in the third Wrigley Marathon at the Canadian National Exhibition here on Sept. 5.

Empire entrants have been slipping quietly into Toronto within the past few weeks and settling down to hard training. Most of those from the British Isles have joined the lists within the past few days. Now they form a formidable squad, without taking into account the native Canadian contingent which numbers nearly 50 and before the list closes will include a score of dangerous contenders.

First of the Britishers to arrive on the scene was Edgar Finlay of Sydney, New South Wales, holder of many titles. A second Australian, Tommy Adrian of Manley, is chiefly known as the coach who discovered and trained Andrew "Boy" Charlton, Australia's wonder-swimmer. Rumors that Charlton himself might enter the marathon were started when it was learned that Adrian was in Amsterdam with his protege for the Olympic games and will race in Canada on his way back to Australia with Charlton.

An entry from Millie Hudson, among the most brilliant of Britain's feminine stars and a veteran marathoner, came next and then the bulky Herr von Papenfuss of South Africa arrived in person. Von Papenfuss pounded along for more than 14 hours last year but lacked speed. Last winter however he trained in California and changed his stroke to a six-beat crawl which furnishes more speed with less effort.

Then Norman Leslie Dereham of Britain bobbed up suddenly in Toronto. Dereham holds the British Empire record for swimming the English channel, having crossed in 13 hours, 55 minutes to lower Gertrude Ederle's time.

George Close and Dave Billington are other entrants from Britain who promise to be real contenders. There are more than a dozen additional Empire entries from scattered sections of the globe, including two from the West Indies.

SPORT CHAT

It is more than likely that very soon professional footballers in the Old Country will find clauses in their agreement forbidding them to use motor cycles and cars. Cowie, the Falkirk centre-half, was seriously injured some time ago, and the Falkirk directors have introduced the ban into their agreements. Another Scottish club, Heart of Midlothian, have followed suit.

Sam Wadsworth the English international and Huddersfield full back was similarly injured recently. Two years ago "Dixie" Dean the record goal scorer of the English League, was so dangerously hurt that he was nearly permanently put out of the game.

Jock Harkness, the Scottish International goalkeeper formerly of the Queen's Park, the famous amateur team of the Scottish League, but now of the Heart of Midlothian, played in his first league fixture against his old team who were defeated 3-1.

Barney Battles who plays centre forward for the Falls River, crack U.S.A. football team, is the son of a famous Celtic back. He has been recently visiting Scotland and there was talk that he might sign on for his father's old club.

The season's record of Ayr United in the Scottish League, to the first division of which they have returned after three seasons in the second division will be watched with interest. Their draw with St. Mirren was a good start and even better was their draw with Third Lanark on the latter's ground in their second game.

Third Lanark, the other promoted club, made a fine start by winning from Hamilton Academicals on the latter's ground and their draw with their old companions promoted from the second division was a hard fought game.

The report that Madison Dix, who is to fight Alf Harding during Fair Week, had been injured in his fight with Delaney, caused local fight fans to worry about his Prince Rupert engagement. Charlie Brown got in touch with Dix at once and got word back that he was all right. Delaney had butted him cutting his eye open when Dix had been carrying the fight to him. But Dix was right on the job again.

A later wire carries the news of Dix's victory over Bobby James of Seattle last Friday in the main event of the Walla Walla Wn. boxing tourney. Dix was an easy winner against a heavier boxer.

The football supporters of the city are hoping that George Russell will reconsider his decision not to referee any more games this season. George is the best referee in town and would be in demand in much larger football centres than Prince Rupert. He is quick on the whistle, makes his decisions immediately and shown no favors. Isn't it strange that it's always the losing team that kicks against a referee's verdict? There is no doubt that several local players are not good sports when a decision is given against them. Surely it is time that they knew they should play to the whistle and to the referee's decisions at once and without any question. Arguing does no possible good. But there is hardly a game but two or three want to debate decisions. Let them concentrate on the game and devote all their energies to it. Then a referee will have an easier time, the game will be more interesting and the sport will benefit. Here's hoping George will be back as "knight of the whistle" before the season closes. Football needs him.

The Terminals lineup for the football game tonight includes Vic Menzies, Skinner, Howe, Hill, Currie, Macdonald, Chinoski, Burdette, Strachan, Harrison, and Dickens with Lundy as reserve.

First and second readings of a construction bylaw for a concrete sidewalk on 6th Street, west side, and of initiative bylaws for sidewalk construction 2nd Avenue, south side, 6th Street west side (2nd Avenue to Wayne Place), 6th Street east, (2nd Avenue to Wayne Place) and 3rd Street east were given at the City Council meeting last evening.

COCK FIGHTING STILL PERSISTS

SIXTEEN PEOPLE FINED FOR BEING CONCERNED IN GAME MARKING OF SWANS

LONDON, Aug. 21—The Old Country is a great stickler for keeping up its old customs despite those twin most powerful deterrents, Law and Fashion. Only a few days ago sixteen defendants appeared before a Bench of Norfolk magistrates to answer charges of being concerned in cock fighting—an ancient British sport that has been barred by Statute these hundred years. They were fined £10 ($50) apiece, and no doubt thought it cheap at the price. The Thames, too, has just witnessed the annual spectacle of "Swan-upping", that immemorial mystery which always figures prominently among the General Knowledge questions in the elementary schools. "Swan-upping" is the yearly expedition made by the swan markers of the King, and of the river. It is a colorful procession of six rowing boats flying the "swan banners" of red and white, and blue and white, and manned by King's men in jerseys of scarlet, and those of the Companies in white, the Vintners' striped with blue, and the Dyers' with green. The swans are examined for the nicks which determine the allocation of the cygnets; two nicks for the Vintners' and one nick for the Dyers'. All the unmarked swans are His Majesty's. Every year in December the Vintners, in maintenance of a tradition now four hundred years old, give a Swan Dinner, at which two savory cygnets fattened for the occasion are brought into the hall in a ceremonial procession by the Swan Warden who formally presents them for the delectation of the Master and his guests.

ONTARIO PROHIBITS MUSKRAT TRAPPING

Fur-Bearers Scarce in Older Canadian Province and Demand Large

TORONTO, Aug.21—The provincial government has passed a law that no muskrats are to be trapped for a period of at least one year in Ontario. This step has been found necessary as a consequence of the tremendous drain upon wild fur-bearing animals due to the increasing popularity of furs for both winter and summer wear.

The uniform scarceness of wild fur-bearing animals is resulting in the development of a new industry, that of the fur farmer. The pioneer in this field was the breeder of silver-black foxes, but the large number of muskrats used by the peltry trade, and the high prices that today can be obtained for their skins, are making this also a very desirable animal to raise in captivity.

Swampy land fitted by nature for little else, so long as it has an abundance of bulrushes and cat-tails, upon the roots of which the muskrats feed, is best suited to it. Fur farming is following just as naturally as stock raising followed the demand for regular, steady supplies of meat.

SPEAKING OF CATS

A grammar school boy handed in the following composition on "Cats."

"Cats that's made for little boys to maul and tease is called Maultease cats. Some cats is rekernized by how quiet their purs is and these is named pursian cats. The cats what has very bad tempers is called Angorie cats. And cats with deep feelin's is called Feline cats. I don't like cats."—Regina Leader.
