WIDEST BREACH WITH CONGRESS IN MANY YEARS

PRESIDENT VEToes 13 BILLS AND SEVERAL ARE PASSED OVER HIS HEAD

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 22.—The closing days of the first session of the seventieth congress were enlivened by the widest breach that has developed between the capitol and the white house since the break in the first Cleveland administration which added an unrivaled chapter to this country's political life.

As was the case 42 years ago when Grover Cleveland turned back to congress 116 bills without his signature, the gulf this year had its source in the constitutional power of the President to veto the work of the legislative establishment.

Although the Cleveland record bids fair to stand the test of time, Mr. Coolidge set a modern record of disappointing 13 bills. Congress on its part likewise set a modern mark in overriding the President on three of the six which were brought to a vote for re-passage, which required a two-thirds majority.

Out of the veto-voting skirmish in both houses, the President thus emerged with a fifty-fifty average, but his record with the senate alone was not so good. That chamber, in an unprecedented flurry, in one day overrode the President four times and failed on a fifth attempt by only a handful of votes.

The victory of the greatest importance, however, went to Mr. Coolidge. That was on the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill which congress passed in the face of a warning that a veto was its fate. With its second veto in as many years, hinged principally upon its equalization fee provisions, the bill went back to the Senate where on its original passage it won the support of more than two-thirds of those voting.

On the final show down after the veto, that proportion of strength dwindled and the lack of four votes on the affirmative side transferred the subject of farm relief from a legislative to a solely political status.

Of the thirteen bills vetoed the farm measure was the only one of widespread interest. One other bill that stirred up considerable sentiment and which successfully repassed both houses was the Tyson-Fitzgerald measure to give retirement pay to disabled emergency world war officers.

Two other bills enacted into law over the President's objection concerned postal employees, one providing increased pay for night workers and the other giving allowances to fourth-class postmasters for rent, fuel and light.

On two other measures congress made a final effort to write them into law despite Mr. Coolidge's wishes. One, the Odde bill to authorize an appropriation of $10,000,000 for road construction on the public domain in eleven western states, succeeding in repassing the Senate, but was stopped in the House which gave the President a majority vote of support.

The other bill, proposing creation of the rank of bandmaster in the army, died in the Senate itself, but only by a narrow margin of votes.

All of the remaining seven vetoed bills were referred back to respective committees in whose private legislative graveyards they now repose.

SETTLERS FOR PEACE RIVER

ALL PREVIOUS RECORDS WILL BE BROKEN THIS SEASON FOR NEWCOMERS

EDMONTON, June 21.—Land settlement has been booming in the Edmonton office for the past month, and there never has been a busier season recorded so far. Prospects are that all previous records will be broken, and officials are of the opinion that a more financially responsible class of settlers than ever before are coming into the province.

The bulk of the land seekers are headed for the Peace River and other districts to the north, although many are settling in Central Alberta.

Every train to Peace River and Grande Prairie is filled to capacity, and so great is the rush of travel at the present time that reservations have to be made days in advance in order to secure sleeping accommodation on the trains. Many of the newcomers are making the trek by automobile and Nebraska, North and South Dakota and Minnesota are especially sending in large numbers of intending settlers.

SPITE FENCES WINNIPEG DOWN

WINNIPEG, June 21.—You can't build any more "spite fences" or walls in Winnipeg. You must get even with neighbors some other way. These instructions have been issued by the building department.

Investigation showed 45 fences and three walls 25 feet high that come within the spite stuff. These were erected as the result of neighbors quarrelling. The highest wall was the alleged result of a neighbor peeping into the windows of the adjoining flat about bedtime. Anyway, no more permits for that sort of obstructions will be issued. If your neighbor looks into your bedroom, you can pull down the blinds, Mayor McLean says.

Originally the spite fence ordinance was copied, the building inspector says, from an old one in the Toronto bylaws.

SASKATCHEWAN HILL STEADILY SINKING

HALLONQUIST, Sask., June 21.—A hill which has sunk forty feet in fourteen years has created considerable interest in this district and a geologist has been asked to come here to study the phenomenon.

The hill was first noticed taking a downward course in 1914 and since then there has been a gradual slinking of about 3 feet each year. An underground tunnel or an oil field underneath has been suggested as possible explanations.

OBJECTION TO CREMATORIUM

CATHOLICS OF VICTORIA DO NOT AGREE WITH BURNING REMAINS AT ROSS BAY CEMETERY

VICTORIA, June 22.—An announcement by Alderman E. S. Woodward that the proposed crematorium for Victoria would be placed in Ross Bay Cemetery, if permission could be secured for the use of that location, has drawn a sharp protest from the Right Rev. Thomas O'Donnell, Bishop of Vancouver Island, who on behalf of the Roman Catholics of the diocese, has filed a letter with the Mayor and council. The letter is couched in the following terms:

"The undersigned, the proprietor of a large section of Ross Bay Cemetery, wishes to place himself and the Catholics of the city whom he represents, on record in opposition to the proposed desecration of our cemetery by the erection within its precincts of an incinerator for the pagan pyre-burning of Christian remains.

"When we bought our section of Ross Bay Cemetery we thought and still think that we bought a part of a burial ground, and not part of a burning ground.

"Should this matter be carried to a conclusion by the advocates of burning the dead, you will understand why we will make use of every legal means to defeat their purpose."

The communication was signed in the name of the Bishop of Vancouver Island, and addressed to the Mayor and City Council.

The local Elks are planning to make this a big event. The trip will probably be as far as Port Simpson.
