LIVING OUR OWN LIVES

While men and women live in communities and to a certain extent conform to similar customs, manners and laws, each has his own individuality and must live his own life. There is no reason why one person should live like any other person or do or say the things some other group of persons do or say. We live our own lives and no one can live them for us. If we make mistakes we pay the penalty. What a man sows that shall he also reap.

But there are people who think other persons should live like they do, think as they do and act as they do. These people are a nuisance in the community and they hold back the advancement of the race.

The reason Prince Rupert is inhabited is because some people were unwilling to conform to the life of other places and came here to live. There is no reason why the city should be like others. We do not want it to have ugly rows of trees on the streets or other inartistic features of the great outside world. Let us have a distinctive city, a city that dares to be different. Just as the people here are a people who live and behave somewhat differently from the rest of the world, so should the expression of the people in city building be unique.

COMING OF SPRING

The milder weather makes people think of spring. The call of the great outdoors is ours and we naturally turn to the water, the game grounds, the fishing streams and the gardens. The normal person has enough self-respect to clean up the yard and make everything look respectable.

To many the spring means baseball games, football or tennis. To others it means going out and getting in tune with nature. Sport when it occupies the whole thought of young men or women has a narrowing influence, cramps the life and shuts out much that should be learned or enjoyed. On the other hand when it is used as a means of keeping fit and providing occasional enjoyment it is most valuable.

So, too, is watching games or sports. It is difficult to understand healthy people willing to spend every public holiday watching someone else play instead of going out and playing themselves. It is an enjoyable recreation watching a good game well played, but to waste every holiday in that way is a great mistake. One good game of marbles or duck on the rock has more value than watching a dozen games played by someone else.

SEEING NATURE WORK

But to many, spring means an opportunity to watch the ways of nature as illustrated by other than human beings. They like to see the birds return, the trees break into leaf, the flowers grow, to hear the song of the brook or the sighing of the wind in the tree tops. Possibly to them spring means more than to any others. They spend their spare time away from the haunts of men and delight in finding a new flower or exploring a new haunt of the wild things.

Around Prince Rupert there are all sorts of opportunities for exploring. A Natural History of Kalen Island would prove a most enthralling subject for a natural history writer. He might describe and photograph the flowers and trees, tell of the birds that visit here, the deer and other animals that come to the island, the insects that are found including the spiders in the gardens and the smaller creatures and this might be rounded out by a study of the fishes and other water creatures seen in the coves and on the beaches.

FORGET MAKING A LIVING

We all have to think a great deal about making a living for if we do not, we fail to make sufficient money to enable us to buy leisure and the means of study. Let it be granted then that the first thing in life is to provide for our physical needs. After that may well come the study of some phase of outdoor life and spring is the time to begin.

DEATH OF KILDALA ARM MAN PRESUMED

Estate of R. W. Owens, Logging Man, to be Settled Upon Application of Widow

On the application of Mrs. Marie Anne Owens, of Kildala Arm, Mr. Justice Morrison in Supreme Court at Vancouver, made an order presuming the death of her husband, Roscoe Wheeler Owens.

Accompanied by his brother, Lloyd Maxwell Owens, logging contractor, and by Mrs. Mary Tanka, the deceased left Mud Bay on January 3 last for Butedale in the gasboat Clara Frances. Half a mile from shore on the east side of Coote Island, in Devastation Channel, an explosion occurred in the engine room. The engine was blown over-board and with it Roscoe Wheeler, who was engineer.

In spite of a heavy sea which was running, Lloyd Maxwell Owens launched the dinghy and searched among the wreckage for his brother. There was no trace of the man. The Clara Frances burned to the water's edge, and the two survivors rowed ashore in the dinghy.

Roscoe Wheeler Owens left an estate of $8322 to his wife. He is survived also by two infant children, a boy and a girl. The application was made by J. C. Gibson.

Man in the Moon

GOOD morning merry spring time
Why did you come so soon?
You're driving snow from the hills.
And bringing back the loon.

HAD it not been for horses we should have known nothing of Paul Revere and not as much as we do about the Prince of Wales.

CHEER up folks. If we have not much money we have a lot of fun and the less cash we have the more it is possible to get.

FROM the point of view of the lady-wear establishments, the only thing women are useful for is to sell things to.

THE bat may not be a bird but I like to hear it sing as it sends a fast one to the outfield.

SAY, boys, let's have a whole lot of baseball this year.

IF horses are nearly all gone from the cities, remember we still have the bull.

A CRANK is a person who thinks a newspaper is against him if it does not advocate the same unreasonable policy that he does.

MODERNISTS are those who advocate some policy that was the vogue a few thousand years ago.

IN advising any young man what is the first thing to do when breaking into the boating game, I suggest he get hold of some black grease and daub face and hands and a good deal of the clothes so as to get used to it.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

MARCH 20, 1918.

There was considerable excitement this morning when fire broke out in the Windsor Hotel. The blaze started in the kitchen and there was much smoke but little damage. Miss Minnie Parker jumped from a window and sustained injuries which necessitated her removal to the hospital.

The Prince Rupert Musical Society was formed at an enthusiastic meeting in the city council chamber last night. Officers are: president, W. E. Williams; vice-president, W. H. Melliar; secretary, C. C. Perry; treasurer, W. J. Smithers; executive, J. H. McMillan, John E. Davey and E. V. Ling.

Following are the chairmen of Fair committee here for the coming year: finance, E. H. Mortimer; prize list, W. E. Colborn; publicity and printing, G. W. Morrow; sports and attractions, Ben Self; transportation, H. B. Rochester; grounds and improvements, R. J. D. Smith.

RAILWAY HOTEL CONVERTS CITY

REGINA CHANGED TO DIFFERENT
CLASS BY REASON OF NEW IN-STITUTION, SAYS JOHN
BULGER

The building of the big railway hotel at Regina seems to have changed that place from a small town to a big city, declared John Bulger, local jeweller and optician, who arrived home Sunday after attending the annual convention of the Canadian Jewellers' Association, which was held in the Hotel Saskatchewan. All the big events of the city are held there and it gives them a setting which is so attractive that Regina now gets many events which it could not otherwise have secured. Peopie go there because the hotel is there.

Telling of his visit, Mr. Bulger said there was a wonderful exhibit of silver and glass ware, gold plate, window displays, novelties, rings and diamonds open only to the visitors during the day and to the general public of Regina in the evening.

One feature of the exhibit was a tendency to return to natural gold instead

She Could Not Work HEADACHES Were So Severe

Mrs. A. Riehl, Barstall, Sask., writes: "I was troubled with very severe headaches, and sometimes I could not do my work."
