STRUCK IN ST. PATRICK'S DAY ENTERTAINMENT THIS YEAR UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

QUALITY, NOT QUANTITY

AND DANCES AT ANNUAL EVENT

The annual St. Patrick's Day concert Church arranged by M. J. Dougherty with Bishop Bunez as patron and J. Muldoon as business manager was different from anything that had gone before. Instead of the large number of ongs and dances, these were confined to but a few numbers and the remainder clever local artists. The whole affair was well arranged and well executed and reand on those who took part.

Promptly at the appointed time the terson. Westholme Orchestra struck up the medley of Irish airs without any ancouncement and the concert was on. It also closed at the appointed time giving slightly over two hours of real enjoy-

The team was composed of Misses Laura Frizzell, fessional business. Catherine Irvine, Ada Menzgohr, May Thompson, Evelyn Dalby, Edna Unger, Dot Edgar, Julia Walters, Chris McLeod and Evelyn March. D. B. Finn in "The Kerry Dance" sang well and his work was appreciated. He gave for an encore "Oh the Time is Long, Mayourneen." His accompanist making satisfactory progress following Manning, assistant chief forester for was H. N. Brocklesby.

Miss Mollie Jackson in the Irish Love song "Would God I Were the Tender Apple Blossom," upheld her previous good reputation as a vocalist. Her stage presence and entrancing gown added to the enjoyment of her singing. Her encore number also went well. Miss Lorna Tite accompanied.

One of the most spectacular and pleasing numbers on the program was the Irish dance by Misses MacLaren. Thomson, Grieve, Palmer, McCaffery and Riel. They kept good time and the dance's went with a swing.

The dialogue "Just Norsense," between Alex. Connon and J. Dougherty was a side-splitting little sketch with Dougherty as the comedian. It contained some local references and was witty and bright throughout. Mrs. J. J. Muldoon was better than ever in her song, "Believe Me if all Those Endearing Young Charms," accompanied by Miss Virginia Riel and her encore number "When First I Saw Sweet Peggy" was equally well sung. The one-act play, "Yes, George," proved to be a winner and the end must have been eminently satisfactory to George. It was the story of a young man who found it difficult to propose to his pretty sweetheart, a very difficult thing to simulate but well acted. The difficulty George found was that his young lady friend Anna (Miss Mollie Jackson) was too popular and her many friends almost entirely obliterated him. The ruse adopted to get rid of the friends while retaining Anna was effective and in the end all turned out well. Louis Smith took the part of the lover to perfection and Anna used all the wiles of a charming girl to lead him on. The obtruding friends who flocked in at an unfortunate moment were Misses Lillian Cross, Winnie Thomson, Jean
