SPINAL ADJUSTMENTS CURED RHEUMATISM

How rheumatism was banished from the life of one man is told in the following:

"For three years I suffered intensely from rheumatism. The pain was so severe in my hip and thigh that I would have to stop and rest when walking along the street or working in the field; (I worked on my farm spring and summer months and on the railroad in fall and winter). Often I would have to lay off.

"I consulted five regular physicians at different times, took their medicine; followed their instructions. No change. Next a specialist removed my tonsils. No change—except to get worse. Then a course with an osteopath. No improvement. Pain became so severe that I had to secure a leave of absence from railroad duties. The superintendent advised going to the Rochester Clinic. To Rochester I went. The only change suggested here was to follow a prescribed diet. This I did faithfully and carefully for many months. But still no change.

"Chiropractic adjustments had been urged by my friends. These I decided to give a careful tryout. In January, 1925, I began taking adjustments and continued regularly for two and one-half months. After a few adjustments I could notice a slight change for the better. The improvement was very gradual, however.

"The pain gradually lessened and since the middle of March, 1925, to the present—over a year—I have not had an ache or a pain of any kind in my hip or thigh, nor have I lost a day's work from rheumatism during this period.

"I believe that anyone who will take regular adjustments, and allow the chiropractor the necessary time, will get well."

CIVIC COURT OF REVISION

Waterfront Cases Discussed This Morning by Lawyers in Appeal Against Assessment

The civic court of revision was engaged this morning in consideration of the appeals of P. Burns & Co., Ltd. and the Imperial Oil Co., Ltd., represented by L. W. Patmore; Thomas Trotter, C. C. Ketchum, Edward Lipsett (Prince Rupert) Ltd. and N. M. McLean, represented by Milton Gonzales, and the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co., whose counsel was W. E. Fisher, against assessments on waterfront property. Overvaluation and exorbitant taxation are the grounds of appeal in all cases. Counsel in each case were heard and the decision of the court was reserved.

L. W. Patmore, in speaking on the Burns case, submitted that the assessment on this property amounted to $107 a front foot, taking into consideration both the frontage assessment of $80 per foot and the assessment of the acreage to the rear. He claimed inequities in assessment and compared the land in point with other parcels on the waterfront. He claimed that the Burns piece was one of the poorest parcels of the waterfront. It was faced with a reef and wharf building was both a costly and difficult operation. He held that it was inequitable to assess Burns at $60 a front foot, which was the same as more valuable waterfront such as the Big Bay's while the Imperial Oil Co. was $70 per front foot. In 1926 the assessment on this particular piece of waterfront was $78.40; in 1927, $97, and in 1928 $107. He saw no corresponding increase in value or earning power of the property.

Ald. Collart, chairman of the court, suggested that there had been an increase in the number of utility users, thus an increase in population. This would increase the value of city land. Assessor J. C. McLennan held that this waterfront property was worth more today than it was two years ago. Mr. Patmore did not agree with either Mr. Collart or Mr. McLennan. He saw no reason why waterfront property should be more valuable today than it was two years ago. All assessments along the waterfront, he claimed, were too high and increases were not warranted.

In speaking to the Trotter appeal, Mr. Gonzales agreed that waterfront property had not increased in value. In 1924 the assessment on Mr. Trotter's piece was $65; in 1925-26, the same; in 1927, $87, and this year, $107. He submitted that there was no reason for the increase. It should be remembered that Mr. Trotter's was only a small business. A wharf had been built at tremendous cost. Mr. Trotter simply could not afford to pay the interest on borrowed money and taxes. It would put him out of business. The assessment had been increased almost 100 per cent in two years which he considered unreasonable. This was not as valuable property as that of Alberi & McCaffery, the Big Bay, Hunt's, etc. which were assessed the same. The assessments were too high and out of proportion.

E. F. Jones, city solicitor, pointed out that there had been no increase in assessments between 1921 and 1925.

Mr. Patmore made the suggestion that the court should deal with the cases as they stood. It should be taken into consideration whether the lessee was a big man or a small man, a rich one or a poor one. Mr. Jones had no sympathy for such a basis. Certainly no statute provided for it.

Go where you will in Canada, there is no finer dairy country, dairy cows or dairy men than you see in the Fraser Valley. To us, here, the sight of fine herds is common. We sometimes fail to appreciate their value to British Columbia. Pacific Milk is gaining a big demand in England because it is so rich and has true natural flavor.
