WHY MAKE POOR PAY?

Hon. S. F. Tolmie, leader of the Conservatives, declares that if he should form a government at Victoria, he will do away with the succession duty tax. Today when a rich man dies the province takes a percentage of the estate, before it is passed on to the heirs. The same is done in most countries, especially in Great Britain. In the latter country the tax rate on inheritance is very high. Small estates pay little but large ones pay high.

But Dr. Tolmie seems to object to this collection of succession duties from rich people because it tends to keep rich people from coming here.

In reply to this we would suggest that if rich people do not want to come they can stay where they are. We believe in treating them well but they must pay their share of the taxes.

The succession duties are taxes on rich people's estates and are among the most just of all taxes. The higher they are the better. If all the countries of the world could agree to do the same, the state should take a very large percentage of the estate of all people who die, thus doing away with much of the privilege of wealth. As it is at present impossible for the nations to agree on such joint action, the tax has to be kept reasonably low in order not to keep people out of the country. That seems to be the policy of the B.C. government. It is to be hoped that they will not be influenced by Dr. Tolmie and abolish it altogether. Probably the most just of all taxes are the income tax and the inheritance tax. They are taxes on the people who are best able to pay and those with small incomes are not affected.

HEAR PATTULLO TONIGHT

When Hon. Dr. Tolmie was here we urged people of this city to get out and hear him. They went in large numbers. Now we suggest that they hear Mr. Pattullo's reply. It is understood that the minister of lands has a few rather incisive things to say and he has a habit of saying them rather well when a campaign is on. We have been told that he will be practically the only speaker and that the meeting will not be unduly protracted.

THEATRE PICTURES

Attention has been drawn to the fact that portions of pictures are sometimes missing when they are shown here. Any such missing parts are those deleted by the censor for various reasons. Every picture exhibited in this province is first run through for one of the censors and if there is anything considered flagrantly objectionable it is cut out. Every province of the Dominion does the same but naturally there is a difference of opinion as to what shall be deleted.

We are told that the management of the local theatre never deletes anything, the picture being shown just as it comes to them. It is understood that when a film is torn in running it, as often occurs, the torn portion of the film has to be eliminated. As a film may be torn at any time, there is possibility of something not appearing for that reason.

Advance notices of pictures are written when the film leaves the producers and may contain references to parts which the censor has eliminated. This occurs in all picture houses alike throughout the province. The theatre notices are intended as a guide to readers of the paper but are not guaranteed in any way owing to the difficulties here mentioned.

LUNCHEON TO ROBERT WATSON

ROTARY CLUB AND WOMEN'S CANADIAN CLUB HONOR

VISITOR: MRS. WATSON

It was a large gathering, especially of Prince Rupert women, who gathered yesterday in the Commodore Cafe at a joint luncheon of the Rotary Club and the Women's Canadian Club to hear Robert Watson, the Canadian author, given an address on the tribulations and humors of authorship. The tables were filled to capacity and George Rorie, president of the Rotary Club presided, ably supported by Mrs. J. C. McLennan, president of the Women's Canadian Club. Two vocal solos were given, one by Mrs. Brocklesby and the other by Mrs. Cruickshank and at the close the speaker was thanked by Mrs. McLennan. Mrs. Watson also was present at the head table.

Story after story was told by Mr. Watson, most of them illustrating some feature of the work of writing or marketing literary wares. Thirteen stories Mr. Watson said, he had buried, so that he began to wonder whether he were an author or undertaker, but he was not so wealthy as the latter. In the art of marketing, Mr. Watson told of selling his first book three and a half years after it was written and that to a firm that had turned it down at first. One article he had offered forty times, rewritten and sold for a respectable sum after fifteen years of waiting.

One book this author had written he wanted to call "Be Sure Your Sins Will Find You Out," but the publisher explained it would be published just before Christmas and they could picture a person receiving a book with such a title as a Christmas present.

Dealing with the matter of critics, Mr. Watson said his lad Hughie had brought him a report from his teacher which was not a very good one. He had expressed surprise and sorrow, but the boy quickly came back: "Say, dad, did you read that review of your book in the Free Press yesterday?"

Then he further remarked, "Never mind school teachers and editors don't know it all."

Mr. Watson deplored the fact that only three or four authors earned their living that way. In the Argentine Republic a sum of $30,000 was voted annually for the encouragement of literary works by local authors dealing with their own country. Canada gave nothing. Until Canada had a literature she could not become a nation.

One thing Canada had to do was to get rid of the inferiority complex. She must learn that Canada can do things as well as other countries.

Mr. Watson closed his talk by reference to the work of Stevenson and other authors and of the difficulty of competing with them. However it was a chase that was enjoyable thing. When the prize was won the game was over.

Man in the Moon

These are days when candidates have to be careful. Every word they utter may be used against them.

It is difficult for a man to feel superior when he can't sleep at night.

Present fashions prevent jokers from speaking of the baseball moustache—nine a side or three out all out.

A crank is often a nuisance and yet most things are turned by it.

Some people have too much sense to worry and others have not enough.

Jake says he knows it's wrong to swear but it relieves him a lot to curse the Grits. Then he feels more like voting for them.

The world is divided into two classes, those who work and those who dodge work.

"Very glad to mate you," as the Irish parson said to the bride when introduced by the groom.

"It takes very little to please me," as the prisoner remarked when asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed.

When a man says he will be true to the last, it all depends upon which one is the last.

To watch some of the pedestrians you would imagine they owned the streets and Jake says some of the motorists drive as if they owned the car.

There is a new way to lift a mortgage. The other day a train struck a car—hit it right between the second and the third payments.

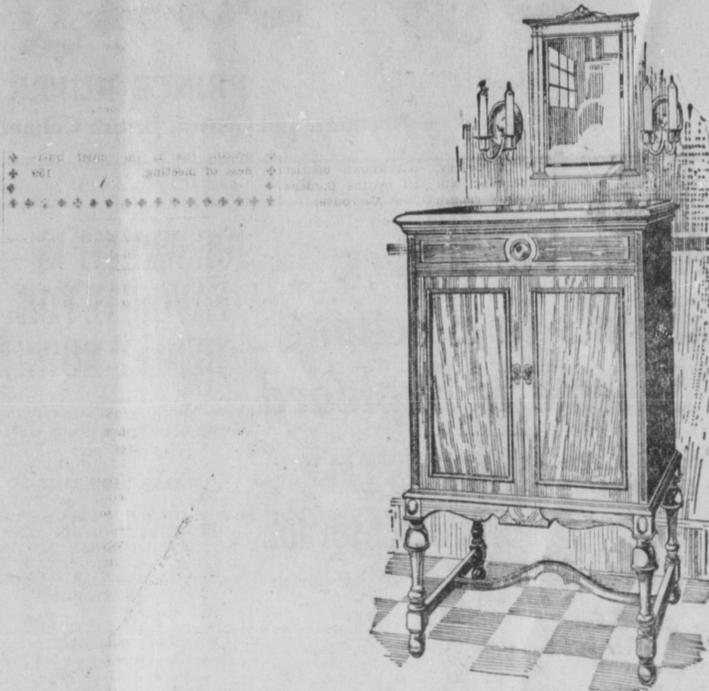

A negro preacher had pestered his bishop so much with appeals for help that the bishop finally told him with a tone of finality that he didn't want any more appeals from him.

The next week came another letter from the preacher:

"Dear Bishop: I assure you this is not an appeal. It is a report. I have no pants."

Mrs. F.—I just heard an awful story about your husband.

Mrs. C.—Do tell me. I need a new dress.

Home Demonstration

- no Obligation -

You need not buy a new Orthophonic Victrola in order to hear it at home. Try it first—then purchase if you like it.

After all—the purchase of a new Orthophonic Victrola is a step requiring a little serious thought in various ways. You want to know (not to imagine), how it will appear in your home. You want to hear it in its permanent location. You will probably wish to try it in various locations in your home.

Why not? It costs you nothing to do all this,—to have a wonderful evening of your favorite music.

Home demonstration is part of the service rendered by His Master's Voice dealers. Any responsible person in the community may arrange for such a demonstration.

There is no music so beautifully identical with the original performance as Orthophonic Victrola music. This is possible only through the recently developed, Victor controlled, principle of "Matched Impedance" or "Smooth Flow of Sound". Also,—there is no group of artists so varied or so famous as the group that sings for Victor V. E. Orthophonic records.

Models of the New Orthophonic Victrola are beautifully executed in fine woods, smartly designed, from $1400 to as low as $115. Obtainable at all His Master's Voice dealers on convenient payments.

Remember, a home demonstration with no obligation, is yours for the asking.
