Gambling In People's Food.

Much of the trouble in regard to the high cost of living is caused by the gambling spirit which is prevalent everywhere. This gambling spirit is an evil which pervades all classes of society. In Prince Rupert nearly everyone is a gambler, and the workers, who have named themselves the proletariat, are just as bad as the rest.

Everyone knows that furs are very expensive. Ladies covet them, rich or poor, but the poor do not get much opportunity to buy. Here is an example of gambling in furs which is true except for the names of those connected with the transactions.

Jones bought a bundle of furs from a dealer and sold them to Smith, making a profit of 15 per cent.; the prices advanced and Jones bought them back, giving Smith a profit of 20 per cent. They were then sold to Brown at a profit of 7 per cent., and bought back again at a profit of 5 per cent. and finally sold to the manufacturer at a profit of 5 per cent. It would take a high school pupil some time to find the actual percentage of profit made in this gamble. In the process considerable over fifty per cent. was added to the price. Similar gambling in other raw products takes place with the result that the final consumer has to pay a big price.

Even without the gambling which takes place the processes of buying and selling make the prices high. Take furs again as an instance. The trapper sells to the small storekeeper who sells to the small dealer who sells to the larger dealer who sells again to the big dealer who sells to the manufacturer who sells to the wholesaler who sells to the retailer who sells to the wearer. There are eight transactions and in each a considerable toll is taken. Is it any wonder that furs are dear?

Purchase in Canada National Obligation.

Purchase of Canadian products is a national obligation during the reconstruction period. Home buying employs labor, maintains wages, stimulates production, and increases prosperity. The Canadian Trade Commissioner says: "For every million dollars retained in Canada by a refusal to buy other than Canadian goods, a year's continuous employment can be given to at least 1,000 people."

Canada exported last year unfinished products to the value of more than $900,000,000. If the manufacturing processes of even one-third of these had been completed in Canada, employment would have been given to at least 125,000 more work people, close to $125,000,000 would have been provided for additional wages and salaries, and the net value of Canadian products would have been increased by approximately $275,000,000.

Canadian imports in 1918 totalled $906,954,900. If half this money had been spent on Canadian products, it would have given employment to an additional 100,000 workmen, with an increased payroll of nearly $100,000,000.

To meet its great war debt and reconstruction obligations, Canada must increase production, build up the home market, develop export trade.

Every dollar spent for goods produced by Canadian labor means better conditions for Canadian workers, and no goods purchased abroad are cheap that take the place of our own labor and our own raw material.

Eastern Prices on Community Silver

We just received a copy of the Robert Simpson Co. catalogue and find that our prices on Community Silver are exactly the same as theirs. We mention this as proof that we are trying to give our customers as good service as they can get anywhere.

Other things we can prove it by are Big Ben clocks, Waltham and other watches, Waterman pens, Rogers silver and almost any well known article.
