MANY VISITORS ADMIRE GOLDBLOOM'S LITTLE PIG

Goldbloom had many visitors EARLY OFFICER OF yesterday admiring the little pig EARLY OFFICER OF he was showing in his window, accompanied by his dashund. Hel was jokingly accused of raising pigskin and dogskin to sell for fur under some other name. Now Goldbloom wishes to take this opportunity to tell his friendsand those who are not his friends -that this is one thing he does not do and after twenty years in business, he has yet to have the first complaint of this sort. For instance, he does not rename a dogskin coat worth $55 and sell it for mink-marmot at $350. Such any such case, the law is on the he is in charge of a large Army buyers side, and receipt or no receipt, goods sold must be as represented, no matter what they George, who as a small curly are called. Dogskin is not mink- headed lad used to beat the drum marmot and sheepskin is not in street services in the early ented, can not only get their Army band there. He is now marmoney back, but sue successfully ried and has a child. for damages as well.

Although no lawyer, Goldbloom knows that much.
