SAD DROWNING AT SALT LAKE LAST EVENING

James Mairs Victim of Upsetting Canoe—Companion Unable to Save Him.

A very sad drowning fatality occurred at the Salt Lake last evening when the canoe upset in which James Mairs, the nineteen year old son of Walter Mairs, was sitting. Early in the evening Jim and a friend, Pollock, canoed over the bay and then portaged their craft into the lake.

From later happenings it appears that the boys undressed at the head of the lake and then came down to the float to have a swim. Jim Mairs could not swim although when found had a bathing suit on, having come over with the full intention of going in bathing, since conditions have been so improved for learners. He was in the bow of the canoe and Pollock was standing on the float with the rope in his hand waiting to go into the water to have a tow around. Suddenly, it is not exactly known just how, the canoe turned over and the boy disappeared in the lake. The man on the float came to his rescue but was unable to bring the helpless lad out who was struggling to get a grip of the boat. Pollock had to come ashore without the boy as he could not swim very well himself.

Called Help.

There was one man there at the time of the accident but he could not dive so he ran down to the point where help was obtained. Messrs. Scott, Gibbons and Noble came running up the path undressing all the way but it was already a long time since the victim had gone under. The body was about forty feet from the diving stand and it took a great effort to get out that far. However the rescuers persevered and at last Mr. Gibbons caught a glimpse of something white in the water. He did not have enough strength left to get it that time out on the next attempt, but ascertained the position, was successful.

Immediately first aid and artificial respiration were applied but it was of no avail. Mrs. Humble worked tirelessly for an hour with the drowned boy but the body had been too long in the water. Hot stones were applied and everything possible done before the arrival of Dr. Cade who had been brought from town by J. Myhill-Jones on the Alice B. The doctor said that four minutes was long enough to be in the water to drown a person and as Mairs had been in fully three quarters of an hour, very little could be done.

Body Brought Here.

The body was brought to the city last night and is in Haynor Bros. morgue pending further inquiry into the accident. As this is the first fatality at the Salt Lake, Prince Rupert's popular bathing resort, naturally a spell of gloom has spread over the city since last evening.

For corsets see Mrs. Director.

TURKISH ARMIES HAVE BEEN FORMED

Organized Under Generals Who Refused to Obey Orders Recently.

(Special via G. T. P. Telegraphs.) Paris, July 3.—Reports come from Constantinople that three armies have been formed in Asiatic Turkey. They are led by three generals who refused to obey orders on Thursday last. Just what is the object of the formation of the armies is not stated but it is undoubtedly a revolutionary movement.

There has been considerable talk in football circles as to the possible formation of a city league which would induce two or three possible teams to enter the game. It would also provide lots of good outdoor amusement for the young people who enjoy sports of any kind.

STRIKE CALLED FOR TOMORROW BY COMMITTEE

Second Attempt to Get All Union Men of City to Quit Their Work.

Unless there is some change in the situation in the meantime the strike committee will call out all the supporting union men of the city tomorrow at 5 p. m., the only exceptions being the cold storage engineers and the Shawatlans engineers. Each of these are exempt because in one case there would be a danger of spoiling an immense quantity of food fish and in the other the city power and light would be affected.

The city electricians will remain in for the present.

The committee held a meeting with the superintendent of the G. T. P. yesterday, when that official explained that conditions would not allow of the return of some of the men just now, but that they would be taken on as soon as there were places for them. The strike committee wanted the men who had been taken on during the strike removed in order to allow the strikers to return. As a result there was a deadlock and at a meeting this morning it was decided to call a strike.

It is understood that most of the carpenters in town will cease work, for a time at any rate. The engineers are also likely to go out.

TWO THOUSAND AT THE HOLIDAY GAMES

The committee which arranged for the fine program of sports on Dominion Day are to be congratulated on the success of the celebration. Weather conditions were ideal and this brought out a very large attendance at the ball games in the afternoon. A very close estimate from the gate receipts places the afternoon's crowd at 1,550, counting adults and children. About two hundred children went around by the reservoir and also a great many grown ups who were just patriotic enough to climb over all the rocks and stumps rather than pay the paltry 25 cents asked at the gate. This would nearly bring the number up to 2,000 which is a record indeed for Prince Rupert since pre-war days. The evening attendance was nearly 600.

No financial statement can be published yet as all the collections have not been made. This will be delayed for a few days, owing to the absence of Ben Self who has a list of the donations. The booth was very successful and paid well, as also did the other side attractions, namely the knocking down of the "nigger babies."

T. J. Jefferson, the manager of Butevale cannery, is a visitor in the city.
