Diabetes Mellitus

Diabetes is not a kidney disease as many people think, but a condition in which the kidneys become involved, and ultimately break down as a result of their strenuous efforts to eliminate sugar from the blood stream.

The presence of sugar in the blood has a double significance. It points out that the cells of the body are not assimilating the much-needed carbohydrates so necessary to its physical economy, besides the irritating effect it has on the kidneys in the discharge of their duties.

Up to date all so-called cures for diabetes mellitus have proved a complete failure.

By my natural methods I do not combat the disease, but aid the natural tendencies of the system to right itself in a crisis.

If you are suffering from diabetes I will be glad to have you call in and allow me to go into your case in detail. This consultation service I will gladly render free of charge.
