New York Rangers Win World Championship in Hockey Beating Maroons

Boucher Scored Twice for Winning Team and Phillips Once for Montreal in Exciting and Thrilling Game

MONTREAL, April 16.—The Stanley Cup, that old battered piece of silverware, emblematic of the pro. hockey championship of the world is gone to the United States for the second time in its long and colorful history. Seattle won the trophy in 1917 but the following year it returned to Canada and was held here until Saturday night when the New York Rangers scored a two to one victory over the Montreal Maroons in the fifth and deciding game of the 1928 world series.

Lester Patrick's battling Rangers put the skids under the powerful Maroon team, which, after scoring a decisive 2 to 0 victory in the first game was picked by experts to breeze through to the championship. But the Rangers, after one of the most stubbornly fought hockey battles in the history of the cup were returned victors by a three to two game margin.

Saturday night's game was the most exciting and thrilling match of the titular fixtures. The Maroons, while beaten in the final game, were by no means disgusted and in their defeat stamped themselves as a team of supreme fighting qualities. F. Boucher scored the first goal for the Rangers after 17 minutes and 5 seconds play in the first period. There was no score in the second period. Boucher scored the second goal for the Rangers in the third period after 15 minutes, 15 seconds play, and 2 minutes 45 seconds later Phillips tallied the only counter for the Maroons. Play was strenuous throughout and the penalties numerous. Bill Cook of the Rangers drew down several major penalties.
