MASTERPIECE OF DECEPTION AND DELUSION

EDMONTON, March 17 .- "Spiritualism s the devil's masterpiece of decepti and delusion, which is sweeping the world like a mighty avalanche, and carrying with it unnumbered multitudes into Chirstless garves and the only thing that will save us from being swept into its horrible vortex is a firm stand in the truths of the Bible," declared Evangelist White in a lecture on "Spiritualism and Do the Dead actually appear," held in the Memorial Hall, and attended by more than seven hundred Explaining the reason for the popularity of Spiritualism, Mr. White said that it appeals especially to those who have lost loved ones and to those who are curious as to the life beyond the grave.

"There has been and still is much trickery and fraud practiced by the mediums of this art," continued Mr White "and a great part of the table lifting, ouija board, automatic slate writing, the playing of musical instruments by unseen hands and photographing of the dead is nothing but charlantanry, while hundreds of accredited mediums have been caught in the rankest forms of misrepresentation and sleight of hand."

"Harry Houdini, the master magician challenged spiritualists for many years to show him any of their purported spirit manifestations that he could not reproduce, and the "Scientific American" had a prize of $5,000 posted for many months for any medium to claim who could reproduce one phenomenon which five judges should accept as supernatural. Many mediums tried for the money, but all were caught in trickery."

Dealing with the popularity of spiritualism Mr. White said that there was no use in us blinding our eyes to facts, as the evidence is too great-Spiritualism being older than secular history and able to be traced back as far as 4275 years ago.

OAK LINED TROLLER WITH RADIO SET IS LATEST IN ALASKA

Owner Says Fishermen Should be Comfortable When Engaged in His Work and Taking his Wife

operated in 1914 to Eisle III, now at the city fleat, his newest, boat with its mahogany and oak finish and radio set, is a far cry says the Ketchikan Chronicle.

The new boat was built in Seattle and arrived here recently on her maiden trip. She is 361/2 feet long and driven by a 30 horsepower Lathrop engine. The boat cost the owner nearly $5000 and is declared to be a perfect "gem" by all the old trollers. Every new automatic device used in the trolling game is installed. Mr. Johnson is accompanied by his wife. They were married November 4 last in Seattle, her maiden name being Lencra M. Dodge, and she accompanied her husband north and will go trolling with him. "A man might as well be at nome on his boat," said Mr. Johnson, "The time is past when a fisherman is expected to lead a 'dog's life' the same as a good many of us had to do in the old days."

Mr. Johnson said that there was a veritable craze on in the coast towns for building trolling boats, many of them of larger size and equipped with 30 to 35 horsepower delsel engines. Many of them, he says, figure on ocean

Despite the activity in boat building. Mr. Johnson says the price of boats keeps up. He says also they are really higher in Scattle and coast towns than offered for sale in Ketchikan. He sold his Elsie II. to Walter Carlson.

MORE DAYLIGHT IS BEING ASKED FROM VARIOUS SECTIONS

(Nelson News)

Vancouver, the largest city in British Columbia; Kelowna, centre of one of the province's best agricultural districts, and Kimberly, the location of the greatest mine in the province, have all indorsed the request of the Nelson board of trade to the provincial government to put into effect the Daylight Saving Act. It has been on the statute books of British Columbia for some years and only requires the stroke of a pen to make it operative.

The movement started by the Nelson board has thus received indorsation rom representative communities in the province, communities which are far apart and which are centres of various industries and various conditions.

Boards of trade throughout Kootenay and Boundary, who believe that daylight saving on a provincial-wide basis would be advantageous, can help the A wedding took place last evening movement by indorsing the Nelson
