NEW ORCHESTRA FOR REGIMENT

Large Organization Planned and First Practice Held Last Night at Armories

The newest musical organization in the city and one that promises to become an important factor in the life of the community has been launched under the auspices of the First Battalion North B.C. Regiment. This is a Regiment Concert Orchestra. It held its first practice last night at the Armories, eighteen strong, under the leadership of Professor A. H. Pryce, and a number more applications to join and inquiries have been received, the prospect being that the orchestra will attain considerable proportions. All the members present last night were men but a number of ladies have made inquiries and it is proposed to form a mixed orchestra admitting ladies as well as men. No fee is asked of those attending, only a pledge of faithful adherence to duty and a determination to practice regularly. So far there are six violins, a cello, saxophones, cornets, trombones, bass, clarinets, drums, and piano. More stringed instruments are desired as well as flute and clarinet.

Officers for the organization were chosen at a recent meeting as follows: Hon. President—Lieut.-Col. J. W. Nicholls. President—G. V. Wilkinson. Vice-President—A. J. Lancaster. Secretary—E. Hartwig. Treasurer—R. E. Eysfelsen. Leader—Professor Pryce. Practices are held at 8 o'clock Mondays and Thursdays.

AMATEUR BROADCASTING

Editor Daily News.

In the interest of amateur radio, we wish to correct the false impression left by your editorial in Saturday's issue dealing with amateur interference and transmission of fake distress signals. In the first place, we wish to point out that fifty per cent of the radio interference today, is caused by the listeners themselves, through re-radiating sets; bloopers or squealers as they are sometimes called; not mentioning static, power leaks, violet-ray machines, and countless other modern devices of such nature; which constitute interference of the worst kind. In no small degree either is the interference caused by commercial ship and coast stations. This is very trying and taxes a person's patience to the limit, especially when these stations are close in.

Moreover, the said stations invariably operate on a wave which is in close proximity, and often within the broadcast band itself. They use, too, transmitters of the spark type which emit a very broad wave in comparison to the continuous wave sets used by amateurs and broadcasting stations.

The greater majority of the radio amateurs to-day, operate on wave lengths of 80 meters and below, which are over 100 meters below the broadcast band itself. Therefore it is highly improbable for any amateur to cause interference with the broadcast listeners.

With reference to the transmission of fraudulent distress signals, may we state that it is an offence punishable by law (see Radiotelegraph Act, Chap. 43, Per. 7) and subjects the station to a heavy fine or imprisonment, as well as cancellation of its license. Now these licenses are not issued haphazardly to "young boys and others," but are only obtained after having passed an official examination given by the Government Radio Inspector. A radio amateur values his license and certificate very highly, and is not very desirous of suffering the disgrace of losing it, through abusing his privileges, as intimated in your editorial.

Regarding the signals you mentioned as received from the S.S. Griffice; they were spark signals and within the Commercial band. It is absolutely prohibited for any amateur station to use a transmitter of this type, and as far as amateur signals being in the other bands, it is impossible.

Since it has been shown that amateur interference in the broadcast band is highly improbable, and very seldom occurs; and since the commercial band is above the broadcast band, therefore it is evident indeed that Amateur interference on Commercial bands is positively absurd. "I tried different kinds of medicine, but they seemed to do me no good. "A friend recommended

Tonight's basketball program should be an interesting one. Headliner on the bill will be the Elks and Grand Terminals in the Senior League who, during the first half of the season, waged a spirited battle for second place honors and who are now reported to be in fine fettle. The Intermediate League game will be between the long suffering Elevator and Big Four which has been showing considerable form lately and is now close on the heels of the High School for the leadership. A Junior League engagement between Taxis Boys and Stars will round off the night's doings.

The sporting editor of this paper is in receipt of an advance program for the fourteenth annual Winter Carnival to be held at Revelstoke from February 6 to 10. This event has gradually grown to be probably the most popular of its kind in British Columbia. While it features the spectacular ski sport, Revelstoke being the home of Nels Nelson, for many years world's champion ski jumper, there will also be many other features on the list including curling, hockey, broom ball, tobogganing, grand ice carnival and fireworks. Revelstoke will no doubt be once again the mecca for world championship aspirants where the foremost exponents of winter sport meet.

A meeting of the Vanderhoof hockey club was held last week when a committee, composed of Mr. Roy Taylor, E. Smedley and C. Members of the association are required to pay a fee of $3.00. By a previous arrangement the Hockey Club has the management of the skating rink.
