Laughs At Tales That Prince Rupert Is Not Maki g Progress Shows Faith By Opening Here

"It makes me laugh when I hear people talk of Prince Rupert not making progress," stated Frank D. Rice this morning. "I came to what is now Prince Kupert in building a city looked almost an impossibility here then. Now see what has been accompushed. Considering the time, I think wond rful progress has been made. Also I think the future looks very rosy. As an earnest of my faith I have decided to open an office here and to make this my headquarters."

NOW SECURED

National Airplane Lumber Co. Reported to Have Taken Ground at Seal Cove

While the principals of the concern, J. R. Black and Robert Armstrong of Kewanee, Illinois, are both in the south just now and confirmation is therefore not available, it is reported that the National Airplane Lumber Co. Inc., which is contemplating the erection of a specialty mill here for the purpose of manufacturing airplane spruce for export from limits on Big Falls Creek up the Ecstall River, has secured a site for the plant just across the cove at Seal Cove from the Big Bay Lumber Co.'s mill. To give that site railway connection, it would be necessary to build a bridge across the uncompleted fill of the grade there.

Meanwhile, loging operations have been closed down for a while up Big Falls Creek and the crew of men there is engaged in putting in a two-mile light railway which will connect the limits with the Ecstall River. Over this supplies will be taken into the operations and logs may also be carried out

National Airplane Lumber Co. is reported to have acquired considerable timber limits on the Queen Charlotte Islands as well as those up the Ecstall River.
