A RECIPE WORTH CLIPPING

You Can Make These Delicious Candies!

CHOCOLATE TRUFFLES

½ can Eagle Brand Condensed Milk
½ pound sweet chocolate
Lump of butter size of walnut
½ teaspoon vanilla

Melt chocolate in a double boiler. Remove from fire, add butter, then condensed milk and vanilla, stirring well. As soon as mixture begins to thicken, drop from point of spoon onto a buttered platter or baking sheet. Half nuts may be placed on these chocolate drops, or they may be rolled in chopped nut meats, chocolate "sprinkles" (chocolate shots), or grated chocolate.

--they're different, rich without cloying sweetness, deliciously smooth! Easily and quickly made with Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk, and economical, too. Write to The Borden Co. Limited, Vancouver, for free booklet containing more tested recipes, sent free on request.

gration upon which Mr. Pollard felt it was not his place to express his views.

Speaking, however, on the matter of immigration he referred to what had been accomplished in recent conferences between the Empire Parliamentry party and the provincial government. He looked for much good to come from those conversations.

Canada Needed the People

In the course of his address, Mr. Pollard described to his hearers some of the work which the trade commissioner service, of which he was a member, was designed to carry out not only in the British Dominions but also in foreign countries.

Musical Program

In addition to enjoying Mr. Pollard's instructive address, the Gyro Club and its guests revelled in a delightful hour of music with the Capitol Theatre Orchestra, under the leadership of Jack de Jausserand in attendance. There were many orchestral selections and the program also included violincello selections by Will Edmunds with Ewart Lyon and Charlie Balagno accompanying in turn There was also a trio by Mr. Edmunds, Mr. Lyon and A. N. Nachbar, flute.

Guests at the luncheon included Mr. Pollard, Mr. Edmunds, Mr. Lyon, Mr. Nachbar, Mrs. de Jausserand, George Maddams, William Beaumont, Fred Wells, William Mitchell, Col. J. W. Nicholls, W. M. PRINCE RUPERT, B. C.

ONCE there were two men who kept shop. Both shopkeepers were in the same mode of business, but their methods differed widely. In fact it was only a matter of time, a short time, before one must close.

Now the other shopkeeper was different, he was prosperous. His store looked neat and clean, spruce, tidy and colorful, with a front that bespoke quality and service. Now this shopkeeper was a great community booster. His bid for patronage was based on selling his customers the products of his local industries first. He claimed that the industries in his locality employed men who earned wages, who spent wages, and kept others employed. His pet theory was, the more of Pat's mouse traps he sold the more Pat must make, and the more Pat would earn to buy goods from him, the wise shopkeeper. And so he succeeded and became prosperous and popular, and his philosophy and wise counsel spread rapidly.

Now, there's a moral to this story:

Every dollar paid for foreign made goods departs from your homeland never to return; but, each dollar exchanged for a B.C. product remains in British Columbia and quickly grows in value. It enriches industry, ensures employment and introduces prosperity into the homes of the workers.

This is the third advertisement of a series authorized by the B.C. Products Bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade in the interests of the manufacturers of British Columbia.
