Big Run of Pinks Continues on Naas and Skeena Rivers—Halibut Boats Have Mishaps—Halibut Landings

So heavy was the pink run on the Skeena River this week that it was reported that some of the canneries, though working day and night, were having difficulty in handling the fish that were being delivered. The fish of this variety were reported to be even more abundant on the Naas River. With the run of sockeye disappointing in all parts of District No. 2, with the exception of the Rivers Inlet and Smith's Inlet region, the prospect is that the canneries will make up in volume with the lower grade pinks if not in proceeds. It would have been much more gratifying to both canners and fishermen had there been a better run of sockeye but opportunity is being taken to make up the deficiency, so far as is possible, with the the pinks. As well as seining for pinks trolling for cohoes during the past few weeks has been reported to have been satisfactory all over the district. On the whole, the prospect seems to be that the 1928 packing season is going to be more successful than the dismal failure of 1927. This prospect is doing much to enliven and enthuse both cannery operators and fishermen and long faces, following the 1927 season are beginning to disappear.

One of the biggest packs of the season is, according to report, being put up at the Klemtu Cannery in the central division. With Inverness also doing well, Manager R. G. Johnston, who had good packs in both canneries last season in spite of poor conditions, has reason to be doubly pleased. Mr. Johnston is expected back soon from Victoria where he went for special treatment following a recent illness.

Bound in from the fishing banks with a catch of 25,000 pounds, the American halibut boat Daly, Capt. Chris Rolle, lost her stuffing box and, after two days down, the seven members of the crew were about to abandon the vessel and take to the small boats when the New England Fish Co.'s trawler New England came along and towed her to Ketchikan. The mishap occurred 120 miles west of Cape St. Elias and it was a 500 mile tow to Ketchikan.

CHRISTOPHER RETURNING

After having spent a month in Vancouver having a 48 h.p. Gardner diesel engine installed, the Prince Rupert halibut boat M. M. Christopher, Capt. Alf Jacobsen is expected to return to the fisheries any day now.

Having suffered a broken crankshaft while returning to port with a catch of 30,000 pounds, the Prince Rupert halibut boat Cape Beale, Capt. Edgar Arnott, has been tied up for three weeks at Juneau for repairs. The vessel, which was picked up and towed into Juneau by the American boat Baltic, will be back fishing again soon.

Capt. Tom Hansen of the local halibut boat Kalen stole a march on his friends on Wednesday night of August 1 when he was quietly married to Miss Edla Catherine Johnsen who came out from Norway especially for the occasion. Many of Tom's well-wishers will extend their felicitations.

The big Prince Rupert halibut boat Signal, Capt. Paddy Iverson, has been chartered by the Canadian Fishing Co. to pack salmon for two months to the Lagoon Bay cannery on Queen Charlotte Islands. The vessel left for the Islands during the week after having had clutch repairs effected at the dry dock.

The Prince Rupert seineboats Alberta G., owned by R. G. Johnston, and Billy Boy, Capt. O. P. Smith, are engaged now in pink packing to Massett Inlet canneries.

The Prince Rupert towboat Wigwam, Capt. C. C. Ketchum, is engaged in towing scows of pink salmon from outside Massett Inlet to the Langara Fishing & Packing Co.'s cannery at New Massett.

JOINS BIOLOGICAL STATION

Bruce Stevens, graduate of the Prince Rupert High School, has joined the staff of the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station in the capacity of laboratory boy.

Capt. Paul Armour, manager of the Prince Rupert Salvage & Towing Co., made a business trip to Watke Channel this week, leaving Wednesday night and returning Friday morning. The trip was made on the company power cruiser "38."

Power cruiser Thomas Crosby of the Queen Charlotte Marine Mission of the United Church with Capt. William Oliver and Rev. R. C. Scott on board was in port this week from Rivers Inlet, being tied up at the floats of the Prince Rupert Salvage & Towing Co. Capt. Oliver and Mr. Scott were here to attend a meeting of Prince Rupert Presbytery.

John Lindseth has purchased from the official administrator through the Prince Rupert Salvage & Towing Co. the trolling boat Royal which belonged to the late Ed. Lindseth who lost his life recently in a logging accident down the coast. The vessel is 36 feet long and has an 8 h.p. Frisco-Standard engine. The purchase price is understood to have been around $800.

Tommy cod fishing, with strings and halibut hooks sans bait, has been a popular diversion of late for Doc Clapperton and Kenny Smith. There has been a big run of these fish and so eager have they been to serve in the frying pan that all one has to do is lower the hooks so they can snag onto them.

The Vancouver diesel powered halibut boat Dreamerie made her first call in this port on Wednesday when she landed a catch of 4,000 pounds. The Dreamerie is 38 feet long, has a 30 h.p. Bolinder engine and her owner and skipper is Capt. Olof Ivarson.

ON LIPSETT WAYS

Halibut boats Joe Baker and Nautilus have been on the Lipsett Ways this week for mid-season cleaning and painting.

Mr. and Mrs. Thor Johnson and party have been on an angling trip this week on their power boat to Muddy Creek up the Ecstall River. Trout were abundant and mosquitoes were equally so.

It was Doug Frizzell who was causing all the commotion on the harbor last Sunday. The noise kept up until the engine struts gave out on the speedboat Doug had acquired from the Biggs yard and in which he had installed a 60 h.p. automobile engine. Doug had at least a few hours good fun and he attracted lots of notice.

On his way from Port Simpson to Port Essington, Dr. R. G. Large paid a brief visit to port on Thursday with his power cruiser Sunbeam II.

Pacific Coyle Navigation Co.'s tug Cape Scott arrived at 10 o'clock Thursday from the south, having in tow a scowload of coal and a scowload of lumber for Albert & McCaffery. Going out the next morning, the Cape Scott picked up at an anchorage outside the barge Black Wolf, laden with logs from Buckley Bay for Seattle. The Salvor was also in to Albert & McCaffery's at the first of the week with a mixed full cargo.

SANDFISH CAPTURED

A fish common to waters contiguous to Prince Rupert but seldom seen is the sandfish (trichodon-trichodon) a specimen of which was recently presented to the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station by H. Hardy who caught it in a gill net off Green Top Island. The sandfish, so named because its habitat is on the sand in shallow waters, is about eight inches long. It is characterized by a mouth which is almost vertical and it has a peculiar fringe on the lips. The head has spineous protuberances and the color is silvery underneath with mackerel-like stripes on the back.

John Kask, recently on a botanical expedition to the Queen Charlotte Islands with Dr. McLean Fraser of the University of British Columbia, is working temporarily on clams and spawning at the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station before going out into the field on salmon investigation. Mr. Kask, who lived as a boy with his family in Prince Rupert, is a graduate in biology from the University of British Columbia and is attached to the Departure Bay (Nanaimo) Fisheries Experimental Station.

With proceeds estimated at about $1,800 per man, the Prince Rupert halibut boat Prosperity A., Capt. Jack Christiansen, is computed to be the high boat of the Canadian halibut fleet so far this season. The Oslo and Viking are believed to be the runners-up while a number of other Canadian boats are reported to have cleaned up well on to $1,000 per man so far this season.

Of the smaller American boats, the Augusta of Petersburg, Capt. Martin Enge, is leading with proceeds per man of about $2,000 while the schooner Pioneer, Capt. Ingvald Hansen, tops the bigger American boats with $1,400 per man.

Halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert for the 1928 season continue to maintain the lead over 1927 that has already been set. Up to August 3 this year landings at the port stood at 15,774,800 pounds—10,806,000 pounds American and 4,968,800 pounds Canadian—as compared with 15,571,250 lbs.—11,173,850 pounds American and 4,397,400 pounds Canadian—at a similar date last year.

During the week of July 28-August 3 inclusive a total of 762,800 lbs. was landed made up of 564,200 pounds American and 198,300 pounds Canadian. Prices, though a little lower than the week previous, were at a fairly steady and satisfactory level. The highest bid of the week for American fish was 13.8c. and 7c. which the August received for 14,000 pounds while the best Canadian price was 11.8c. and 7c. paid the Marguerite for 8,300 pounds. Low prices of the week were 9.8c. and 5c. for American fish and 9.8c. and 6c. for Canadian.
