NAVAL PLANES 9 TONS EACH

ENGINES NEVER MISSED A BEAT IN FLYING 16,500 MILES

LONDON, Aug. 20.—The flight of four Royal Air Force "monocad" flying boats, each weighing nine tons, in a fly-mouth to Melbourne, 16,500 miles, is termed the greatest flight of its kind in the history of aviation. The machines left England last October, and calling on the way at 70 ports, reached Melbourne at the end of June without having had any mishaps. No such formation flight had ever been made before with any kind of machine.

The flight went on steadily through tropical heat and storm and the machines made the first aerial coasting of India, accomplished the greater part of an aerial circumnavigation of Australia and flew approximately 17,000 of the 23,000 miles scheduled for the cruise.

The great flying boats are now on the way to Singapore, the permanent base for a British Pacific air fleet of the future, of which the craft will form the basis. From Singapore at various times they will make long distance flights in the Far East.

Complete success marked the experiment of all-metal hulls in tropical conditions. They withstood every kind of test. Their wing span is 75 feet and fully loaded each plane weighs nine tons.

Two 500-horse power Napier Lion water-cooled engines propel each craft at a maximum speed of 108 miles an hour. The reliability of these engines, which in 144,000 engine miles did not miss a beat, has astonished the technicians. The machines are biplanes.

Group Captain H. M. Cave-Browne-Cave was in command. Each machine carried a crew of four, having sleeping and cooking accommodation as well as food lockers, rigger's stores, tailor's kit, medical supplies and two day's supply of fresh provisions in case of accident. Hammocks were slung from the cabin roof at night.

BAPTIST LADIES' AID ENJOYS A PICNIC

The Ladies' Aid of the Baptist Church made an excursion Friday evening to Digby Island on the Irene L., which the owner, J. A. Lindsay, kindly placed at their disposal. On arrival at the Island the party made a camp fire and spent a jolly time on the beach and indulged in the familiar hot dog and coffee. A happy time was enjoyed by all and the party arrived back home late in the evening tired but merry.

Reforestation

Much has been said recently about re-forestation in B. C. The present forest is the result of natural reforestation when the human hazard was not present to defeat nature.

Natural re-stocking of cut over lands is now going on, as may be seen almost everywhere, and nature will again re-establish the forests if only fire is kept out.
