(Continued from page Five) was justified. The principal object was to recover a practically new 27 h.p. Atlas engine which went down with the boat. The outfit is due to return to port this week-end.

Harvey Dumas is busily engaged at the floats of the Prince Rupert Salvage & Towing Co. building a new cabin and pilot house on his trolling boat Leander. He has also purchased, through Capt. Alfred Swanson, a 20 h.p. Avance semi-diesel engine for installation in the boat. The engine was delivered from the south recently.

Working on Owl

New combing and other alterations are in course of being made at the floats of the Prince Rupert Salvage & Towing Co. on the former trolling boat Owl which was bought during the summer by Don Crerar from the estate of the late William Dann. It is said that Don plans on fitting the vessel out as an up-todate hunting craft.

An advertisement in this paper that the provincial government is calling for tenders for the purchase of the local police boat P. M. L. 2, one time Adanac. The vessel has been inspected during the week at the floats of the Prince Rupert Salvage & Towing Co. by a number of prospective bidders.

The Naval Reserve boys are all het up over their victory from the C. N. R. in the opening Intermediate League basketball last week and are promising to give Toc H a run for their money in their next game on Tuesday. The boys are assiduously practicing and are determined that the senior service is going to take second place to no one in this basketball business if they can help it. All the officers are taking an active interest in the team's doings and the good effect of the competitions and practice is being felt by all. Come on, Jack Tars!

Emblem Out Again
