The Theatre Situation

The recent cut in prices at the Capitol Theatre illustrates the policy of the great theatre trust, operating under the name of the Famous Players Corporation. They control some one hundred and fifty theatres and the small man is rapidly being frozen out of the theatre business.

Modern business history shows some large organization goes into a town and with millions behind them, cuts prices, losing money themselves, but finally breaking their opposition. Then up go prices and they soon get even in a financial way, controlling the situation.

It occurs this is being done here, and, if the present cut does not put me out of business, another cut will probably be made.

I have offered to amalgamate the two theatres and to operate them jointly, which would permit a fair profit and give the best of service. BUT THE TRUST HAS REFUSED.

The Westholme Theatre offers good entertainment. The pictures and music are the very best. The staff are all local people. I am appealing to the public for more generous support, otherwise the Westholme Theatre must close.

Considerable Activity in Overhauling Halibut Boats;
Cedric Is Sold; Fox Farm on
White Cliff Island

There is more than the usual pre-New Year activity in the matter of halibut boat overhauling at Prince Rupert and many boats are thus engaged just now. It has been usual in the past for the most of the boats to leave this work over until the latest date possible before the opening of the season, but such policy is not so much the case this year. This makes it better for those who follow the work of serving the fleet and it also assures that the boats, which are now taking occasion by the hand, will be already to go when the 1929 season opens on February 15. Work so far has been chiefly confined to engine overhaul.

Engine cylinders of the Edward Lipsett, Capt. Martin Johnson, are back from Vancouver, where they were reground, and the cylinders of the Cedric are being sent south for similar treatment.

New engine blocks and a dry exhaust are being installed by the Star Welding in the Cape Spear, which is owned by J. Spencer and whose skipper is Capt. William Parsons.

The crank shaft of the Ingrid H., Capt. Charlie Lundquist, has been built up. The engine of the Toodie, owned by Lawrence Newell and Pete Wold, is also being overhauled. Similar work on the Margalice, Capt. Jack Christiansen, and Southend, Capt. Anton Moen, has been completed.

Other boats to shortly receive engine overhaul at the Star Welding will include the Dolphin, and R. W.; as well as the Pair of Jacks, Capt. Pete Leland.

The Prince Rupert dry dock has been awarded the contract for the installation of a new 36 h.p. Gardner Diesel engine in the local halibut boat Ternen, Capt. Nel Petersen. The motor will arrive from Vancouver about the middle of next week and installation work will then be immediately started.

Against the terrific storms which swept the halibut fleet on its last trip to the banks, the Ketchikan Chronicle says, cut down the catch about 500,000 pounds under last year, broke booms, smoke stacks, railings and windows, and carried away more gear than ever before lost by the fleet on a single trip. As the last half dozen of the 80 odd halibut boats were due to arrive at Ketchikan from the banks, skippers who disposed of their catches told of the fury of the storm, which practically stopped all fishing on November 13, two days before the close of the season. Some boats lost as high as 20 skates of gear, it was

Axel Olsen, owner of the Prince Rupert halibut boat Rose Spit and Oslo, has left for a trip to his native home in Norway and does not expect to return here until late next spring. Alex Duthie is slated to take command of the Oslo in place of Capt. Olsen during the early part of the next fishing season. The Rose Spit is undergoing an extensive program of repairs and alterations at the floats of the Prince Rupert Salvage & Towing Co., the work including the putting in of a new stern.

Capt. Bill Parsons of the local halibut boat Cape Spear is leaving for Porcher Island for a period of hibernation. Judging from the quantity of supplies which Bill was packing with considerable assiduity this week, his stay is apparently going to be of some extent. He may be counted upon, however, to be back in plenty of time for the opening gun of the new halibut season.

Capt. Chris Olsen has been busy this week with his halibut boat Elma bringing in the effects of A. O. Morse, well known local troller, who recently moved to town from Porcher Island. A cow and other livestock has been included in the freight job. After several years' residence on Porcher, "A. O." and family cannot keep away longer from the bright lights, enlightenment and fine weather of the city.

Capt. Pete Meuse, with a party, including Reg Webber of the F. E. Hunt Ltd. staff, left on Wednesday for a hunting trip to Porcher Island. The expedition is expected back by the end of this week and the geese will then hang high—if there are any—until Christmas dinner.

New Lumber Plant and Bricks
Arrived Yesterday

It will be a few weeks yet at least before the new sawmill of the Billmor Spruce Mills Ltd., located along the railway track about six miles from the city, is ready for operation, stated John R. Morgan, who was in town last night. Machinery is now being installed and the steamers Princess Royal yesterday afternoon and the Princess Mary today brought quantities of fire bricks which will be used in connection with the installation of furnace and boilers.
