Has Been Great Event in House Although Not Very Important Document

(By R. J. Deachman.) OTTAWA, Feb. 28 .- When the Budget omes down there is nothing else to talk about in Ottawa. It may not be * famous document, but it blankets all the doings in the House for a week. It doubtful if its real importance merits the attention it receives. There able guess that the reduction in these are other things that are more im- items of raw material should be more portant, but we centre our attentions than sufficient to compensate the man-YOU FACTS WITH SCRUPULOUS) on the things that seem big and roll- ufacturers for any downward revision ing hundreds of millions from the end that has taken place and that they of the tongue is a sporting proposition should be sitting tight and pretty makfor the average man.

One or two following that in which Mr. Fielding was the main figure, were not noted for their cheerfulness, but Mr. Robb has been able to sing sweet song to the members of House and they listen so cheerfully to the story of prosperity that it almost mains the same under the new sched- to provincial department of public sounds as if he would sing them to ule on all items valued at more than works.

A GOOD STORY

However, the story of the fiscal year is a good one. The surplus of revenue over expenditure will, he anticipated, total $54,815.000. This, of course, is infinitesimally small that it is exan estimate. The year is not yet complete and Mr. Robb has a canny habit process of reasoning applies to a great the home of Mr. and Mrs. William of not making things any better than many of the changes made. they actually are. Loans to soldier settlers and seed grain relief have been of $16,000,000. This makes the net surplus for the year, $38,815,000. taxes, there are some very pleasant 10 per cent in the income tax. The tax on Corporations will hereafter be 8 per cent. There is an allowance of an exemption to those who are supporting dependents, who through physical or mental infirmity are unable to support themselves.

In regard to the sales tax, there is a cut of 25 per cent. The rate in force will not be 3 per cent. Apparently it is the policy of the Government to reduce the sales tax gradually until in process of time, we may hope to see its complete elimination. This will be very cheerful news for business men, because, beyond question, sales tax has its influence in increasing the cost of living and adds as well to the expense of doing business.

TARIFF CHANGES

The changes in the tariff are more conspicuous for their number than for their importance. There is a rebate in the duties on paper used in the production of magazines. There is a measure of justice in this, although a rebate privilege must at best be only a secondary means of reducing a traiff. It selects a particular class for a special favor and we have class favorites enough in Canada without resorting to this. Minor changes are made in other items. Palm oil and Shea butter is now free. Nickel Chromium is also on the free list. It is probable that very few people know what these articles are, but it's a satisfaction at least to see that they are free. Printing presses receive a reduction of 5 per cent when imported from countries enjoying the intermediate tariff-our total imports of printing presses in 1926 amounted to $947,000 -- $12,000 worth of these came in from countries enjoying the intermediate tariff. It is safe, therefore to say, that no one will be shocked particularly in regard to the changes in this item. COTTON SCHEDULES

In regard to the cotton schedules, there is a complete re-arrangement of the items. No one can pass a hasty judgment and say whether the change is upward or downward --- certainly there are some items in which it is lower. Certain extreme tops have been taken off here and there. It may hap-Cartage, Warehousing, and pen that six months hence, when the public has had occasion to examine the schedules and to test the results upon actual imports, we will be able to say that a reduction in the tariff has taken eductions which have taken place in he income tax. Changes in the Sales Fax will not effect them to a very reat extent. Substantial reductions in he tariff would have been a potent and powerful factor, in ameliorating the business situation, but the relief in that regard has not come from the present Budget. We must still look forward to the future.
