LOOKING FORWARD

Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada addressing the First National Assembly of Liberal women stated that the Liberal outlook and thought was directed toward the future. While not objecting to the Conservative policy of looking backward for lessons to guide our actions, we suggest that it is a good thing to keep our minds directed toward the future. That is hope. It is the one blessing that was left in the bottom of Pandora's box when all the away tomorrow for Vancouver where she evil things had escaped. It is that which keeps us buoyed up and will complete her cargo. Capt. S. Mcfor ever enjoying the pleasures of expectancy. The past may be good, the present may be better, but it is dalliance in the rosy future that brings much of the joy of life. We may not be Liberals in politics but we can all be Liberals in our attitude toward life. Then mix in a small dose of conservatism and we have almost a perfect condition.

LOOKING FORWARD IN PRINCE RUPERT

Early in the spring we suggested that this was going to be a year when we should have reason to hope. We repeat that suggestion. We may be mistaken, but to us the future looks rosy. We see Prince Rupert steadily expanding and improving. We see business improving.

Many were disappointed at the small amount of grain shipped this year through this port. Conditions were against us. The grain that came here all had to be treated before it could be shipped. The elevator has worked day and night to condition the grain that the poor Alberta autumn failed to bring to perfection. In spite of that word brought from there aboard the couver and other points in the south. the amount handled has been well ahead of last year. Next year, steamer Prince John which arrived last if the crop is properly harvested, we shall probably have a good evening. many more ships here than we did in the past season,

But there will be other things. British Columbia is developing rapidly and Prince Rupert is bound to go ahead with the rest. work of preparation includes consider- their husbands are identified with the We suggest that while keeping up our best possible work in the present, we fix our minds on the future where lies a great destiny for this new port and we shall enjoy the prosperity all the more ers' South Bay cannery and his crew, Col. and Mrs. F. ### JUVENILE SECTION IN LIBRARY

The Parent-Teachers have protested against the proposed closing of the juvenile section in the public library. That is the first ting its plant at Massett ready to handle vancouver. protest that followed an announcement made recently that the mat-salmon. ter was under consideration.

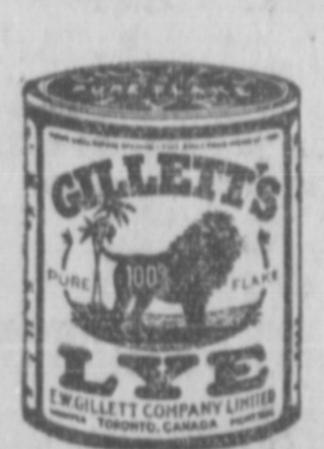

The situation is this. The library board is very much curtailed in the amount of money available. Last year a slight advance was made in the salary of the librarian. It was expected that the city council would increase the grant to cover that amount. They made an increase but not quite enough. The result is that fewer books can be bought this year than last. If the money is spent in the juvenile section the fiction readers must be curtailed, and the fiction readers have complained in the past that so few new books have been purchased for them.

Objectors to the juvenile section say the books are not properly ager of the Naden Harbor station, accared for by the young readers, that there is not much time for companied by Japanese crews who will reading and it interferes with the school studies, that there is not room in the library building for much increase and the elimination of the juvenile section would provide space for the others. The books lotte Islands on the steamer Prince in the juvenile section are nearly all in bad shape and much money John this trip. Mr. Garcin was acis needed to make the collection at all representative.

But the children love fairy tales and many parents cannot af- W. Storrie, engineer at Rose Harbor, ford to buy them. They look for other children's books which are not to be found in the library. They are in the formative period of their lives but there are no books to help develop the imagination or influence the character.

What is to be done for this juvenile section? We strongly urge those who have opinions for or against the juvenile lending library to write us or the library board stating those views and if possible suggesting a way out of the difficulty.

Do your own washing

If so, it will pay you to try this Chinese Washing Fluid. From your druggist buy:-1 can Gillett's Flake Lye (be sure it's "Gillett's" and not a cheap imitation); 1/2 oz. Muriate of Ammonia; 1/2 oz. Salts of Tartar; 1 oz. Sulphate of Soda; dissolve in three gallons of water; keep in large glass bottle or stoneware jar. Use a cup of this fluid to each tub of water, allowing the clothes to soak over night. You'll be amazed at how little rubbing is needed to get clothes spotlessly clean and sweet-smelling, and it will not injure the finest fabrics.
