MORSE CREEK FOR SKATING

Special Committee of Gyro Club Will Decide on Organization's Next Objective

Now that the Acropolis Hill playground is completed, the Gyro Club yesterday discussed the matter of the next club objective and decided to have a special committee appointed to report on the question next month.

The club decided to have the Morse Creek dam, which was put in last year in shape so that the creek may be used as a skating rink this winter. Some kind of a formal opening will be arranged. The sheet was not used for skating last winter by reason of the fact that the dam was only completed after the only real cold spell of the season.

Bill Watt was the winner of the raffle at the club luncheon which was presided over by the president, L. W. Waugh.

BADMINTON IS BIG GAME IN MINING CAMP OF ISLAND

CUMBERLAND, Oct. 10.—The badminton season started in Cumberland when upwards of one hundred players visited the courts of the Imperial Club. Many new faces were seen and it is expected that the present season will surpass any of the previous ones in the history of the Imperials. The Imperial Hall is one of the finest in the province for badminton, and there is sure to be a large membership, as other halls in the district have only accommodation for one court.

The United Church club also started their season the same evening, full turnout of members being reported. These are the only two clubs organized so far, but it is expected that the Whippets, a new club organized last year, will start soon.

Around The World With Sport Fans

(By The Tramp)

Night football is the latest thing in the States. A game was played at Des Moines recently lighted by twenty gigantic floodlights of 2,000 watts each.

Some few months ago, when Conn Tunney was more concerned with gate receipts than at present would run away from a newspaper cameraman—yes, he would, like a chorus girl would dodge. In Rome when he was married he refused to allow photographers to "shoot" pictures of the bridal pair. He persistently avoided cameras in Italy. He even turned a deaf ear to the pleas of the United States Ambassador to Italy and the Italian Minister of the Interior, whereupon spectators and picture men hissed him and his bride.

The general committee of the Amateur Athletic association of England has endorsed the scheme broached by Canadian and Australian track and field officials at the Olympic games for an empire sports federation, says the Toronto Globe, and has forwarded an official communication to the track and field bodies of Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Malta and other dominions and colonies of the empire asking them to formally endorse the project and send delegates to a meeting to consolidate the proposition. So far as Canada is concerned the matter is practically settled—in fact it is regarded as a certainty for the Olympic club of Hamilton, headed by M. M. Robinson, manager of the Canadian Olympic team, has formed a committee to meet the Hamilton city council, parks board, harbor board and other municipal bodies to arrange for financial and other support for the first empire championships to be held there in 1930.

A backwoodsman took a highly recommended wolf-hound into the woods and set him on the fresh trail of a wolf. Anticipating rare sport he followed in the wake of the baying animal. Some miles further on, meeting another woodsman, he asked him if he had seen a wolf and a dog and how were they getting on. "Yes, I saw them," was the answer. "The dog was a little ahead of the wolf."

So far there have been six deaths as the result of football games in the United States this season. Some game! Beats even lacrosse.

SCOTTISH FOOTBALL

LONDON, Oct. 11.—One game was played yesterday in the Scottish Football League, Airdrie and Queen's Park making it a two goal tie.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

October 11, 1918. Archbishop F. H. DuVernet, in a special article in the Daily News today, urges better co-operation between clergymen and doctors. Neither seem to understand the close relationship between the mental and physical, declares the archbishop, who claims that three quarters of the physical ailments have mental basis.

Recent casualty lists announce that Lieutenant Andrew Brighton has been killed in action while Fred McLeod and Bob Robertson are wounded, the former seriously.

At a joint meeting of the St. Andrew's Society and the Sons of England last night, it was decided to arrange a billiard tournament between the members of the two organizations. The first tournament will be played next week.

WHEN SPORT DEGENERATES

Toronto Globe Has Pungent Remarks to Make on Bribing Amateurs

(Toronto Globe)

There is natural disappointment in athletic circles because several of Canada's Olympic athletic stars have already been attracted to United States colleges or athletic clubs. It is even rumored that Percy Williams, Vancouver's sprinting ace, may do likewise next year. The reasons for such an exodus are worthy of examination.

It is no secret that disguised professionalism is rampant in many United States universities and that star athletic teams are built up by remitting tuition fees, board bills, or by secret grants from graduate societies. To offer a boy a chance to secure an otherwise unobtainable education on such terms is a big temptation. Nevertheless there is no escaping the fact that to accept any such arrangement is to become party to a public deception and an athletic misdemeanor.

There is nothing wrong or illegal in undisguised athletic professionalism. The swimmers who compete in the marathons are all paid performers, and the public thinks none the less of them for that. But the rules of all organized amateur sport prohibit the paying, directly or indirectly, of contestants. The amateur who is really a secret professional is the party to a public fraud. Such fraud cannot be too sternly condemned in Canada.

There is no allegation that any of the several Canadian athletic stars have recently crossed the border as the result of any such illicit offers. It is well, though, that the Canadian people should know that such offers are made. Public opinion should not condone any such practices here. Let us have sport for sport's sake; let all financial arrangements be open and aboveboard.

READY FOR BILLIARDS

Arrangements have been completed for the season's play in the first and second billiard divisions and games will be commenced in the near future. The schedule for the season will be issued tomorrow.

SUCCESSFUL WHIST DRIVE AND DANCE

A very successful whist drive and dance was held by the Rebekah Lodge last night in the Boston Hall.

There were seventeen tables of cards and prize-winners were: ladies' first, Mrs. William Rothwell; ladies' second, Mrs. William Thompson; men's first, F. J. Fuller; men's second, James Hickey. After cards, refreshments were served and dancing followed to the strains of tunesome music furnished by an orchestra consisting of Misses Molly and Nellie Lawrence, A. E. Woods, Norman Moorehouse and Dr. R. E. Eyoifsen.

J. E. Boddie was master of ceremonies, George McAulay and Mrs. James Simpson presided at the door and the committee in charge of the event consisted of Mrs. J. E. Boddie, convener, Mrs. James Simpson, Mrs. William Sherman Jr., Mrs. H. S. Pelletier, Mrs. Alex. Mackenzie, Miss M. Durran and A. E. Woods.

SPORT CHAT

Dim, almost, as the figures of Hercules and Mercury are once great names in baseball, Lajoie, Hans Wagner, Matthewson or Willie Keeler. Little more than shadows today. Now Tyrus Cobb, Tristram Speaker and Walter Johnson are on their way into the same snappy country where their glory will soon be buried in the mustiness of the records. It will be some time before another Cobb will flash across the diamond suns. And, when the great Babe Ruth is through with there be another Human Howitzer to succeed him in our generation? Cobb, as a hit maker, runner and base stealer and Ruth as the home run collector de luxe, will leave something to be shot at for more than one generation of stars.

Sterling pitching and timely and effective hitting were the two major factors in the clean sweep that the New York Yankees made over the St. Louis Cardinals in this year's world series. Records show that the Yanks gathered 36 hits out of the four games in the series as against the Cardinals' 27. It was in the heavy hitting, however, where the New Yorkers proved invincible as they made no less than nine home runs and six two-baggers whereas the Cards made but one homer and four doubles. The only three-bagger of the series, however, was by Bottomley for the Cardinals. Each team made twenty-one singles altogether.

Lou Gehrig stole some of the home run honors from Babe Ruth by distributing four circuit clouts throughout the series while the Bambino made but three. The other home run hitters for the Yanks were Meusel and Durst, who got one each. Bottomley, the most effective hitter for the Cardinals in the series, had the honor of making the only St. Louis home run. Details of composite hitting in the series are as follows: New York—home runs, Gehrig 4; Ruth 3; Meusel Durst; two baggers, Ruth, 3; Gehrig, Meusel, Collins; singles, Ruth 4; Koenig 3; Lazzeri 3; Paschal 2; Bengough 2; Durst 2; Gehrig, Hoyt, Dugan, Meusel, Robertson. St. Louis—Home runs Bottomley; three base hits, Bottomley; two base hits, Wilson, Maranville, Orsatti, High; singles High 4; Frisch 3; Maranville 3; Smith 3; Hafey 3; Bottomley, Harper, Orsatti, Douthit, Holm.

In pitching, Waite Hoyt turned in a remarkable performance by fanning six batters in the first game and coming back in the fourth to strike out four. Pipcrass and Zachary also did well for the Yankees by fanning eight and seven respectively. Yankee pitching, with a total of 29 strike-outs, outshadowed that of the Cardinals whose hurlers totalled but 12 strike-outs. Jess Haines fanned three Yankee batsmen in the game in which he participated; Scherdel fanned two men in one game and but one in another. Old Grover Alexander could baffle but one Yankee batter in each of two games while Johnson Mitchell and Rhem each made but one strike-out. Each team made six errors throughout the series. Koenig and Lazzeri each being charged with two for the Yankees and Hoyt and Robertson, one each. Wilson was blamed for two Cardinal errors and Maranville, Mitchell, Orsatti and Hafey for one each.
