Shipbuilding Plant
Temporarily Closed.

The sudden closing of the shipyards on Friday came like a bomb from the blue. It was so unexpected that people found it difficult to believe the news. It is thought however that a settlement will be effected within a few days and everything will be running smoothly again. There is too much at stake to allow of a long delay. Every day that the work is tied up makes a big loss in interest charges alone. Prince Rupert people may feel confident that the delay is not going to be a serious one, but that work will proceed and that within a few weeks the first keel will be laid.

Legal Aspect of Sunday Baseball.

There is a difference of opinion as to whether baseball should be allowed here on Sundays and as a preliminary step to settle the difference, the police were instructed to take the names of the players yesterday. Before prosecutions can follow, the permission of the attorney-general will have to be secured, according to the Lord's Day Act, and the attorney-general has stated on more than one occasion that he will authorize no prosecutions under the act unless recommended to do so by the Board of Police Commissioners who are elected by the people to advise on just such cases as this. That puts the authority just where it belongs. If the Police Commissioners recommend that prosecutions shall take place, the law in that respect will be enforced, it is to be presumed. There may be cases where through the pressure of public opinion or for other reasons the attorney-general may go contrary to the opinion of the Police Commissioners, but such a case has not yet arisen, so far as we know.

In Victoria the mayor ordered the police to take the names of the vendors of tobacco and soft drinks on Sundays. This was done and the chief of police forwarded the list of names to the attorney-general asking for permission to prosecute. The attorney-general replied that if the Board of Police Commissioners sent in a proper formal request for permission to prosecute, the permission would be granted, but not otherwise. This they refused to do, the mayor being the only one in favor.

Would Prosecution
Be Discrimination?

It is claimed by those who like the game of baseball that to prosecute for playing it and to allow tennis, fishing, hunting, boating and picnic parties on Sunday would be gross discrimination. Baseball players make more noise perhaps, but there is really nothing unholy about rooting at a baseball game. It is recreation pure and simple and is a healthy tonic in a town like this where everybody has such a tendency to loaf on the streets and hang around the corners.

It is further claimed by those who favor the American game that it is the only possible way in which games can be arranged with outside points. It is impossible to get teams to come here for one day only, with the strong possibility of that one day being a wet one. The local team is a purely local amateur aggregation and the gate money is expended in bringing the visitors to the city.

Judging from expressions of opinion heard around town, the people here are in favor of Sunday baseball, although it must be admitted there are others who feel very strongly that it is wrong. The people of Nanaimo and Cumberland have decided that those who wish to play ball on Sunday may do so and those who do not like the game shall keep away from it. That might be the best solution here. No one is being morally contaminated by watching the game and if a few happen to stray from the narrow way and visit Acropolis Hill in the afternoon the erring brothers may possibly be reclaimed. There are other places in town that are a danger to the youth of the community about which little is said. The agitation against this healthy sport seems like straining at a midge and swallowing a hornet.
