Freighter Laurel Broke in Two on Columbia Spit---One Life Lost

ASTORIA, June 17.—One sailor lost his life when the freighter Laurel piled up on the sandspit at the mouth of the Columbia River yesterday. Eighteen members of the crew were rescued by the life-saving crew, while the captain and seven men still remain aboard the ship today with the storm still raging.

The Laurel broke in two as she pounded on the spit. Two coastguard vessels are standing by in an effort to remove the remainder of the crew, who seemingly were in no great danger as the seas subsided.

Mrs. D. C. Shand, who for years has conducted a road house at Stewart River and is well known throughout the Yukon Territory, having gone into the north thirtythree years ago over the old Dyea trial, was in Prince Rupert Saturday afternoon, going south oboard the steamer Princess Adelaide. She is leaving the north to take up residence in San Diego, Cal., with a nephew.

While here, Mrs. Shand had the first automobile ride in her life with D. Lawrence local manager of Government Telegraphs. She felt a bit timid at first, but soon got quite used to it. Mrs. Shand has yet to see her first movie and many other modern scientific facilities with which most people are familiar. She is a widow, her husband, with whom she went into the Yukon, having died about five years ago.
