ARMAMENT REDUCTION

If the Labor Government of Great Britain has done nothing else it has made a beginning in the matter of disarmament. Through the efforts of Ramsay Macdonald both Britain and United States have checked the building of war ships to a considerable extent and it seems likely house in a part of New York that the po'icy will be continued, no matter what happens to the Labor Government.

Credit must also be given to President Hoover, who seems to have set himself immediately to the task of pacification and armament reduction. His Quaker tendencies seem to be asserting themselves with good effect.

The policy of Britain and United States ought to be a good example to Russia and China and the rest of the world.

ANOTHER FLAG EFFORT

(Winnipeg Free Press)

The Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association, an organization which includes most of the weekly newspapers of Canada, adopted unanimously at its recent annual meeting in London a declaration in favor of a national flag for Canada in these terms: "Whereas we be lieve it is desirable to adopt a distinctive Dominion flag for Canada, overdrawn your allowance ... the design of which should include the Union Jack, Resolved that we appeal to the Parliament of Canada to treat this matter on a non-party basis, and we further appeal to was a crushed, despairing air about all Canadians, irrespective of race, creed, or origin, to co- her. operate toward the solution of this vital national question." The unanimity shown by this gathering in support of a national flag would we think, be duplicated by any tone, "I know." other gathering of Canadians, however constituted, if the matter could be brought before them for dispassionate consideration. It is the injection of politics into the ques- duny tion. in the expectation of advantage, that has prevented to date a sensible and satisfactory settlement.

"Dad!" she whispered. Mr. Castle swung around, and the expression of triumphant belligerance faded out of his face, yielding to a look of pleasure and tenderness. "Well, my little girl," he exclaimed, "this is a nice surprise!" He reached out and gave her a little hug. The chairman of the Knickerbocker Finance Corporation had retired in favor of the fond parent. "It isn't often you favor here and tell me all about it. I'm in a generous mood this morning. GEOLOGY STUDIED LADY TEACHER

TORONTO. July 23:-There 90 teachers registered for the course in geology and mineralogy at Toronto University, and as many women as men. There! were 75 taking this extension strikes in the dark and from be- course in the winter. No other single study has so large an attendance this summer. Two reasons are given by the instructors.

> The speed of development in the mining industry in Northern Ontario is one. Men and women realize more and more that there is illimitable wealth in mining projects and they are anxious to get a knowledge of the basis of

A second reason is that teachers realize it is potent in developing their powers of observation. These students learn to recognize different minerals by acute observation of their outer appearance. A six weeks' course cannot go into their chemical constituents and processes.

HOW INTERESTING

"I think your new chesterfield suite is simply stunning-and it looks strong!" "It is-it is particularly well made. But I had a hard time choosing it because there are five firms in B.
