

Few Marriages in Constantinople

Economic Crisis Said to Be Partly Responsible for Condition

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 24.—A champion ringer of marriage bells in the days of polygamy, Constantinople now celebrates fewer weddings, annually, than any of the great cities of the world.

Out of a population of 700,000 adults, only two-sevenths are married, according to statistics gathered by a Belgian expert, M. Jacquart, who has been conducting the first reliable census ever taken in Turkey. Four hundred thousand bachelors and bachelor-girls and 100,000 widows, widowers and divorced persons who have not remarried, form five-sevenths of the adult population.

The severe economic crisis which Turkey is traversing is a factor of the amazing widespread celibacy. Taxes are going higher every year, and the cost of necessities every month. Proportionately down goes the ability of the average man to support anybody but himself.

Man in the Moon

When trying to explain a smell which pervaded his premises, a local businessman explained that it was the business which was rotten.

The boy was rather dumb but he wanted to know. He asked his father how much a million dollars was. Next day he complained to his father that he had given him the wrong information. "A helluva lot" is not the right answer," he said.

If you wish a man's wife to open his letter, mark it "personal."

An open mind sometimes means an open palm.

The dandelion has a large family but is not popular. Don't be a dandelion.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

September 24, 1919
Manager F. M. Schellenberg is making arrangements for the laying of the keel of the first of the steamers to be built at the local dry dock on Saturday afternoon. The Duke of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, will officiate.

A resolution condemning profiteering was passed by the local branch of the Army and Navy Veterans of Canada last night. Major J. H. McMullin, president, was in the chair.

R. C. W. Lett, G.T.P. industrial and colonization agent, and W. C. Riddell, advertising agent, following their recent visit here, have given out an interview in Winnipeg saying that they found the people of Prince Rupert very optimistic.
