Lenine Proves To Be Clever Man.
 Czar Lenine, head of the Russian Bolsheviki soviet government, is a very clever man. He has all the qualifications for leadership under the conditions which exist in his country today. He has adopted all the old time deplomacy and absolutism against which the Russians fought. Yesterday news came that he had offered terms of peace to the Roumanians on condition that he secure their support against the Ukrainians and troops of Kolchak. It was a good diplomatic move and one that may prove successful.

The difficulty in regard to Russia is getting reliable news. Those who sympathize with the Bolsheviki will not believe anything bad about them and those opposed will not believe anything good. The probability is that Lenine means to govern well, but he is forced by stress of circumstances to adopt old time methods. From the most reliable news that comes through, Lenine is an autocrat, just as autocratic as Czar Nicholas was, only of a different type and more diplomatic.

What is Future Of Unionism?
 What is to be the future of Unionism? That is a question which many people are asking themselves today. When the Empire was in danger Canada set herself to help and gave up all side issues to centre on the one big job. Now the job is completed and it remains to be seen whether the men with diametrically opposed views will stay together or if there will be a general break up and a setting back into the old groups. It goes without saying that there will be some disintegration, but just how much no one knows.

The Liberal party is to have a big convention in August at which a policy will be adopted which will be more or less of a compromise between the advanced section and those who believe in moving not too fast. Policies are always evolved as a result of compromise. Delegates will meet from every part of the country and as a result of the discussions that will take place the thought of the Liberals of the country will be crystallized into something definite for which the party as a whole will work. It is confidently expected and much to be desired that a considerable number of Liberal Unionists will take part in that convention.

Government Failure To Control Prices.
 It was announced recently that government control of food prices had ceased. With government control we all know what happened. Prices have soared higher and higher until the limit has been reached. People have been charged all they could stand without bringing about actual rebellion. It would be interesting to speculate as to what the condition might have been had the Dominion Government taken no hand in the matter of prices.

As a matter of fact government control was only a joke. The profiteers charged just what they wished and all unholy hands were warned off. The government fell down badly on the matter of control of prices. They proved themselves to be anything but strong and as a result the country suffered. It was a difficult situation, all must admit that, but the government did not rise to the occasion. Even its strongest supporters will admit it. They were ready to take the line of least resistance and that they did. The food controller never controlled to any extent, and the control of excess profits was a big joke except to the one who paid the bill, which was the consumer.
