FURIOUS FINANCE THEME OF PICTURE

"The Wolf of Wall Street" Is George Bancroft's Latest Effort for Paramount

All of the feverish excitement and hysteria that accompanies a "bull drive" on the Wall Street stock market has been captured in George Bancroft's new starring picture for Paramount, "The Wolf of Wall Street," coming to the Capitol tonight and tomorrow.

To accomplish this, Paramount went to unusual lengths in cast assembly and set construction. The interior of the New York stock exchange was duplicated in detail for one of the major sequences of the story and Hollywood and Los Angeles were scoured for men who were familiar with brokerage methods on "the floor." These men, many of them recruited from down-town offices in the financial district, were eager to see the interior of a motion picture studio and to play before the camera, and their enthusiasm, coupled with the directorial ability of Rowland V. Lee, brought out convincing performances from each of them. The scenes on the floor of the stock market are declared to be highly dramatic and authentic portrayals of what actualy happens daily in this "financial heart of the world."

Baclanova, Nancy Caroll, Paul Lukas, among others, are included in the cast playing in Bancroft's support. The story of "The Wolf of Wall Street" was written for the screen by Doris Anderson.
