CONNIE MACK

Manager of Philadelphia Athletics

Cornelius McGillicudy, better series. This was not, however, one of the record holders in the Big Leagues as far as length of service with one club is concerned. He has been manager of the Athletics ever since that club was organized one year after the formation of the American League in 1900 and he is still going strong. He became famous as the builder and wrecker of ing machines between 1910 and 1914. Ending up last year in second place and bidding strong this year for the pennant, there is a general feeling among exports today that Mack has built up another champion machine af-
