

Man in the Moon

Why is it that when a woman tells the doctor she has that tired feeling he always asks to look at her tongue.

In Vancouver the other day a girl put on her coming out gown. Her father forbade her coming out any farther.

We all feel sorry for Lindy. His high flying days are about ended. He is to be married.

A correspondent writes to know why we do not sometimes publish a joke in the Man in the Moon column. Jake suggests we should also have to establish a brain market where readers could replenish their stock.

I like to read a story Like any other bloke, But what I like the best of all Is a really funny joke.

Someone wanted to know what would have happened if Abie's Irish hadn't rose.

When Prince Rupert has nothing else to talk about there is always the opening of Seventh Street and now the city council is planning to remove even that innocent subject of discussion.

That's the worst of city councils. They are always depriving somebody of some pleasure.

Suppose the doctors had nothing to do except to treat sick patients, the business of doctoring would soon go into the discard. It is the people with imaginations that provide the business and they are not all women either.

Hell, for a motorist is a place where the streets are crowded and the pedestrians will not get out of the way.

Much of the enjoyment in Prince Rupert is hearing about the bad weather they get elsewhere.

Denouncing the sinful is a habit confined largely to those who steal or cheat or lie.

Walking would be all right if it were not for motorists. They make hell for the health seekers.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

Constables Duff, Bailey and McGlinchy, giving evidence before Magistrate Carrs this morning in the case of two Chinamen, who were charged with having opium in their possession, testified that the Orientals locked the door against them while they were attempting to make entry to their premises.

Butter is selling for 55c a pound in Prince Rupert and the price of local new laid eggs is 80c.

George Hill jr. was the winner of a roller skating race at the Auditorium last night. Charlie Stuart was second and Doug Storings, third.

SO MANY HUSBANDS DEPEND ON ME SHE saw them in her kitchen - a host of elf-like men. A miller, a soap maker, a traveling salesman. A band of Lilliputians, each representing some one local industry in which her fellow men and women are employed.

Back of each local product she saw ambitious families just like her own. That is why she enjoyed a sense of pride and loyalty every time she purchased the products of her fellow men. In every room in her house she saw the vision of the elfine workmen, for the articles of her home from attic to basement were the products of her home land. There's a moral to this story Every time a housewife purchases a B.C. Product, B.C. husbands benefit. B.C. industries are kept active replacing the products purchased by local housewives. Every woman who knows the prosperity of British Columbia husbands depends on their wives asks first: "Is it made in B.C.?" BE PROUD TO BUY B.C. PRODUCTS Early Ad. Copy is appreciated
