FISHERMEN'S PROBLEMS

Editor, Daily News.—I hope you will permit me to make a comment on the editorial appearing in The Daily News November 20.

Under the heading of "Sickness Insurance," a statement, interesting us at present, is found to be suggested a system of monthly payments which would give them the right to free treatment in the hospital. This is rather difficult. It is usually found that the payments are soon neglected and the people who need the relief most are the ones who fail to make the payment.

and the better plan probably is to go slowly and let those systems work out well first and then add one by one other social improvements.

There must be some misunderstanding which is probably due to not quite correct expression of the idea under consideration and which was made by myself at an earlier date.

Any treatment in the hospital afforded to any fisherman who has paid his monthly dues cannot be considered as free.

On the other hand, any fisherman who has not paid any dues under this system and who applies for treatment in the hospital and receives medical attention there and pays nothing for it can't be considered as a difficulty or an obstacle to the system that will be proposed, for he is not a subject under provisions of this system.

And, finally, those who are not in the habit of looking for a doctor on account of a slight headache and who will pay will become an asset to the hospital which at the present does not exist.

Doctor Lange of Fort Simpson, who has made a success of this system in the hospital under his management, had this system in operation for several years, and we have not heard of any difficulties yet.

And if it hadn't been for the out of the way location of his hospital, salmon fishermen would not have any difficulty in the operation of this system of sick insurance.

The other part of the editorial dealt with the policy of the Salmon Fishermen's Association that was in operation during the summer of 1929.

Apparently the writer of that editorial was misinformed, otherwise his surmise is unimpeachable.

As former secretary of our association I am in the position to state that there was no question of boycott or its contemplation.

There was no intention to eliminate any natural competition amongst the fish buyers on the part of our association. The last was and is the object of activities on the part of buyers as it naturally should be.

There is no danger of Cold Storage going out of business of buying salmon from us, for they can't buy salmon from Mr. Frizzell or Stuart & Mobley.

Initiative of our benevolent Cold Storage in looking for new territory was caused and accelerated by the policy of our association.

While New England had a paradise in Barnard Cove in the past, we have helped Cold Storage to get there and compete with New England.

B. C. Packers had everything their own way at Blackfish Sound till two years ago and it was our association that has helped Cold Storage to go there and confront B. C. Packers as competitors.

It is not reasonable to think that fish buyers are the only ones capable of conceiving the idea of areas and have such to operate in their favor, for we may take a notion to have our own areas and dispose of our fish according to such for our benefit.

Yours for competition,
M. ANDERSON,
Sub Office No. 1, Prince Rupert.

Victims of Man's Neglect

THE widows, the fatherless and the aged toil on, an unending procession of misery, across the world's history. Preyed upon by the unscrupulous . . . aided from time to time by charity . . . they present the most pathetic spectacle in all the world. A spectacle which has no excuse in this country and this century. These are the victims of man's forgetfulness . . . martyrs to the indifference and ignorance of those they loved and depended upon. If you should be taken away, what would become of those you now cherish and protect? Look about you at the evidences of other men's neglect, and decide now—before another sun shall rise or set . . . that adequate Life Insurance, the love that never dies, shall protect your loved ones and dependants from the possibility of want.
