

Man in the Moon

Brisbane says there will be no installment plan in heaven and I also think there will be nothing attained there without effort. The idea that heaven is a free lunch counter is being discounted.

The vacation season is drawing near. The outdoors is calling. Only a little more than a month and a great many children and adults will be taking holidays while a few of the best of us take holidays every day as we enjoy our work.

Jake says Scotsmen don't have to reduce. They are lean by nature. Jake deserves to be fired.

The professional tourist is one who slips his own silver spoon in his pocket by force of habit.

Here's one on the English: Two Scotsmen were going home across a lonely moor one night after a party. It happened that a circus had passed that way, and the gorilla belonging to it had died and been left lying alone unattended on the moor without burial or benefit of clergy. Suddenly one of the Scots caught sight of the huge shaggy form lying there in the moonlight.

"Och, Sandy, what's yon there?" he said.

The other man came up and said: "Havers! It's somebody dead!"

"Who is it, Sandy?" Sandy bent over the dead gorilla. "I canna rightly tell ye, Jack. It's ne a MacPherson, it's neither a MacTavish, and it's too hairy for a McLean. I tell ye, Jack, just run up to the village and see if any o' the English gentry are missin'."

May 22, 1919

Men who served in the trenches in France foregathered last night at the Central Hotel when a banquet was given in honor of Lieut. Col. C. W. Peck V. C. and Capt. John McGregor V. C. by the Great War Veterans' Association. Thomas Silversides was the master of ceremonies.

The Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, will hold its annual Empire Day demonstration for children in the Westholme Theatre. The address on the flag will be given by Lieut. Col. C. W. Peck V. C. and there will be an appropriate vocal solo by Mrs. J. H. McLeod.

Harry Hawker, British aviator, is missing on an attempted flight across the Atlantic Ocean.
