DAILY EDITION. Thursday, July 31, 1919.

Fair Promises Great Success.
It is satisfactory to note that the fall fair promises to make a record this year, judging by the interest taken in it by people outside the city and by the promises of support and the exhibits that are being prepared for it.

President Perry and his associates seem to be doing excellent work and it is hoped that there will be no slackening until the end. In the meantime the co-operation of everyone is asked in order that all previous records may be smashed and an exhibit worthy of the city and district staged.

Liberal Leadership Being Discussed.

Everyone seems to be at sea as to who will be chosen to lead the Liberal party. The choice will be made in a few days and an announcement in regard to it will be awaited with interest both by Liberals and Conservatives.

The name of Hon. John Oliver has been mentioned, and apparently John is quite willing to take the job if it is wished upon him. In the meantime he has his own work to do here.

The only objection to Mr. Oliver is that he is getting on in years and the leadership of the big party is a young man's job. Nothing would please the people of the west better than to have their premier chosen for so important a position, but it seems hardly to be expected that so great an honor could come to British Columbia.

President to Entertain Rulers.

The King and Queen of Belgium and the Prince of Wales are to visit the United States and will be entertained by President Wilson. This is a return visit as the president was the guest of most of the friendly rulers of Europe during his stay over there.

It was a courteous thing to do to invite the heads of the allied governments to visit the country and doubtless they will be given a splendid reception. At the same time it is doubtful if it is good election tactics. The visit of a president, a premier, or any person elected by popular vote would perhaps have made a stronger appeal to the working people of the United States and especially to that section of the democracy that reads the Hearst journals.

Peace Proposals, Were They Made?

Undoubtedly there was a movement to bring about peace in 1917, but whether any British leaders were a party to it is not clear. It might have been that some of the prominent men in the country, not in responsible positions, might have made overtures through the Pope. It is well known that there were many of the big landowners and others in that country who feared just what has come about, the rise of the people in many countries of Europe, and who thought that it was better to make peace with Germany than to run the risk of losing their own power in the country, the power of wealth.

Control Prices of Food Supplies.

The report of the Federal Trade Commission at Washington stated that the big meat packers not only could but did control the prices of livestock. In that way they could manipulate the market to their own advantage and could discriminate against independent buyers.

The condition is one that needs very grave consideration and decisive action. It is an unthinkable condition for the food of the nation to be manipulated in that way.

We do not believe in "trust busting." That is only camouflage. It does not get us anywhere. State control of the big industries is the only possible solution. Just how that control is to be brought about is the thing to consider. Many of the methods are simply bluffs with which to hoodwink the public. We do not want a pretended control but something substantial.

In Canada we have no say in what they do in the United States, but it has been shown that the food supply here is controlled in a similar manner to that of the United States.
