INSTALMENT FOUR

Miss Brown, although securely established in her bed-sitting room, spent an uneasy night in the new world which lay hidden among the cabalistic signs of her notebook. Once or twice she woke with a start and listened. An approaching footstep which paused beneath her window brought her left hand to the precious packet under her pillow and her right to that unfamiliar little weapon upon the table by her side. Always the footsteps passed on however, the rumble of distant traffic became less distinct and the early morning stillness soothed her once more to slumber. When she awoke it was past 8 o'clock and a pale gleam of unexpected sunlight was shining through the window. She lay quite still for a few minutes, realizing little by little this strange thing which had happened to her. As soon as it was all there in her mind, and her brain as well as her body was fully awake, she rose, wrapped herself in a blue dressing gown, which was almost her only vanity, made her way to a room at the end of the dingy hall, deposited a coin in a meter and enjoyed a warm bath with the packet upon the shelf in front of her. Afterward, with it still tucked under her arm, she returned to her room, lit a small gas stove and boiled a kettle while she dressed. As a rule, she stepped out to the baker's adjoining for a small roll, but this morning she was filled with the one consuming desire to deposit her precious volume in safety without running the slightest risk.

At 10 o'clock she placed it in

EDMONTON, Oct. 31.—A timber famine in Canadian soft woods within 25 years, unless prompt efforts are made to carry out reforestation, was predicted by Sir Herbert Matthews of London, England, director of the British Dominions and other large companies.

POLICE BOAT

The new provincial police boat, P. M. L. 8, coming north from Victoria, tied up overnight at Campbell River and was on its way again this morning. During the morning, divisional headquarters here were twice in radio communication with the vessel.

A little spoon will sometimes stir up a terrible mess.

Strength After Childbirth

"After my baby was born I was very weak and run-down. I was not able to do any heavy work but I had to be around on my feet all day. The strain proved too great and I was real sick for about two months. My mother advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I started to take it. You should have seen the change in me. I am now well and strong and in good spirits. I have taken the Vegetable Compound ever since I feel my energy lacking. I also take Liver Pills and I find them a wonderful help for constipation."
—Mrs. James E. Robson, Box 693, Fernie, British Columbia.

Saved From Attackers
"What's the matter, miss?" he demanded.
"A man tried to rob me," she explained. "I have something quite valuable in this satchel. You see one of them tried to snatch it away, only he pulled me down too, and then when he was trying to cut the strap some one knocked him down."
