Man in the Moon

This is a season of stock gambling when most everyone takes a change by paying good money for pretty certificates. Sometimes they make good and sometimes they don't. It's the way of gambling.

They are doped with dizzy fancies
In a poppy laden breeze
Plucking hypothetic cherries
From imaginary trees.

Jake says if you're near a rock quarry you better not build a glass house.

The days are lengthening and summer is coming. Of course it may be like the development of Prince Rupert—rather slow in coming.

The maiden wise may face the frost
With flaxen curly locks
But if she's wise in times like these
She'll don her woollen socks.

If you plan to blow your own horn tune the instrument a bit and practice blowing before inflicting it on the public.

Those robins that were wandering around out of season probably wish themselves in Georgia.

You probably may have heard of people plucking peaches down in Georgia but did you ever hear of peaches plucking people in the south. I am told they do. Isn't it wonderful?

Jake says those Scotsmen who were curling here this week are the bunk. He declares he never heard one of them say "Hoot' mon!" and as for using a broom, he thinks they learned the art by practising in the kitchen at hame.

Ten Years Ago in Prince Rupert

January 31, 1919

A well known local girl was fined $25 in city police court this morning by Magistrate Carss for selling liquor in the form of grape cider to an Indian in a poolroom.

Harold McEwen arrived here last night from Edmonton, where he has been soliciting freight agent, to take the position of chief clerk in the office of G. A. McNicholl, assistant general freight and passenger agent for the G.T.P. Railway.

Mayor Thomas McClymont sailed last night on a trip to Victoria on city business.

WHAT HE WANTED

A young bachelor bored by a sewing machine agent said that his machine would not answer the purpose. "Why," said the agent, "it is the best on the market in every respect!"

"That may be," replied the bachelor, "but the sewing machine I am looking for must have flaxen hair, and blue eyes."—Yorkshire Post.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

SO MANY HUSBANDS DEPEND ON ME

A fable for British Columbia Housewives

SHE saw them in her kitchen—a host of elf-like men. A miller, a soap maker, a travelling salesman. A band of Lilliputians, each representing some one local industry in which her fellow men and women are employed.

Back of each local product she saw ambitious families just like her own. That is why she enjoyed a sense of pride and loyalty every time she purchased the products of her fellow men. In every room in her house she saw the vision of the elfine workmen, for the articles of her home from attic to basement were the products of her home land.

There's a moral to this story

Every time a housewife purchases a B.C. Product, B.C. husbands benefit. B.C. industries are kept active replacing the products purchased by local housewives. Every woman who knows the prosperity of British Columbia husbands depends on their wives asks first: "Is it made in B.C.?"

This is the ninth advertisement of a series authorized by the B.C. Products Bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade in the interests of the manufacturers of British Columbia
