Preventing Speculating
In People's Food.

If by collective purchasing or by any other means the Supreme Economic Council can keep down or reduce the cost of living they will be of great service to the world. In spite of John Stuart Mill and all the economists of the world there is no good and sufficient reason for a rise in prices when there is a scarcity of material. The tendency is that way, but it may be curbed. Concerted action is the only means of accomplishing it.

Prices should be based on the cost of production and not on the demand and supply. If an article costs eighty cents to make and ordinarily sells at a dollar, it should continue to sell at a dollar even though there is a scarcity of the article. The only difficulty is that after some person has bought the article for a dollar, if he finds someone else needs it worse than he does he may pass it on for a dollar and a half. If the selling price of a dollar were set by regulation and selling at a higher rate were illegal it might prevent speculation, but it may not. Legislation along these lines would be experimental and in experiments no one can calculate all the possibilities.

Quarter of Million Peace Loan Proposed.

A quarter of a million dollars is to be raised from a big peace loan in the autumn. Already preparations are being made to get the machinery in motion for giving the people an opportunity to subscribe. The money must be raised, it is understood, and it must be raised in this country.

The Dominion Government will probably take the country into its confidence very soon and explain where the money is to be spent. Naturally the people want to know. If it is a right and proper expenditure the money will be forthcoming; if it is not the cash will remain in the pockets of the people.

Soldier Settlement In Australia.

The Commonwealth of Australia grants no free land. It leases its Crown Lands and as well acquires privately owned lands and leases them to soldier settlers at a small annual rental.

Advances up to a maximum of $2,500 are made to settlers. There is some discussion now as to the adequacy of this amount, and it is likely to be raised to $3,750. Loans for permanent improvements extend over twenty-five years; loans for stock and equipment from three to six years. The general line of policy adopted by the Commonwealth may be summarized in the following terms: "The land will not be given away but will be made available on easy terms. Every acre of land will eventually have to be bought and every sum advanced to effect improvements or to be used as working capital will have to be repaid. The idea is not to start off as land proprietors but to provide the means of earning a comfortable living and ultimately owning a farm." It should be stated that the States furnish the land and the Commonwealth loans the money to the States to be in turn loaned to the soldiers.

As in Canada, each applicant is required to demonstrate his fitness and aptitude for farm life and those who require further training will be given this at training farms established in the different States, and allowances will be paid for sustenance during the period of training.

It is estimated that the sum of $200,000,000 will be required for the establishment of soldier settlers in Australia.

There are several forms of land tenure. In New South Wales, South Australia and Queensland, no free hold title is given. The settler pays a rental of about 1 1/2% of the value of the land and receives a perpetual lease which is inheritable. At periods varying from 10 to 35 years the land is revalued. The soldier settlement policy of the Commonwealth and of the States is a modification of the general settlement policy which has been in active operation there for many years.
