DROP IN EGG PRICE NOTED

Stiffening in Flour Price Shown in This Month's Report of Retail Market

A general drop in the price of eggs marks the January revision of retail market prices in Prince Rupert. The little brown hen is beginning to do her stuff again and a gradual decline in prices may now be expected.

There is a slight increase in the price of wheat flour but pastry flour is so far remaining steady.

There are few other changes of much importance in local market prices. Owing to the winter season, few new articles are being offered while a few are off.

Roads and Bridges

ROADS AND TRAILS
 1916 26,220 MILES
 1926-7 31,900 MILES
 BRIDGES: The present valuation of 63 miles of Bridges is $848,000

UPON the arteries of communication depend the settlement and growth of the nation. First the trails... then the rough oxcart ruts... the wagon roads... the automobile highways.

The scattered population of British Columbia has made the construction of roads between centres a matter of vital importance, yet one of almost insurmountable difficulties.

Mountain sides have to be blasted away... clefts and chasms tresselled... rivers bridged!

With the opening of the Cariboo Highway through Fraser Canyon in 1926, the last link of British Columbia's great arterial highway... a highway unexcelled the world over as an engineering feat and one of unmatched scenic beauty... was forged.

Eastern British Columbia greeted its western brothers! Markets and railways were brought closer to the farmer, the miner, the industrialist. New fields for agricultural and trade development were opened up.

For the ten years just past, an aggressive highway programme has been carried out. Thousands of miles of good roads and dozens of sturdy bridges have been built.

Our roads system now totals 31,900 miles... an increase of over 5,000 miles during the last ten years. Of this mileage, 12,000 miles are earth roads; 4,000 gravel roads; and 1,000 macadam, bituminous, concrete and cement concrete. The 5,000 miles which were added to our roads system include: 884 miles of main trunk roads, 602 miles of lateral roads, 281 miles of industrial and mining roads, 1,133 miles of settlement and farm roads, and 2,000 miles of ordinary and mining trails.

During the years just before 1917, a large number of bridges had been constructed in the Province, nearly all of which were temporary timber structures. Since 1917, the problem of maintenance and renewal of these structures has been a serious one, involving a large expenditure, particularly between the years 1920 and 1927.

The policy has been to improve design of and workmanship on temporary bridges and to renew all the large bridges on main highways over the principal rivers with concrete and steel.

Today, the valuation of our 63 miles of bridges is nine million dollars.

This construction activity has distributed wages and salaries over our whole Province and has been a material aid in bringing about the current period of British Columbia's prosperity.

TAYLOR'S VALEDICTORY

When Louis D. Taylor was bidding an official adieu on relinquishing his office as mayor of Vancouver he said: "If Mr. Malkin has the same co-operation of the council and citizens generally that I have enjoyed, then his regime will be successful. Mr. Malkin has my earnest wish for a year of big achievement for the city we both love so well."

Louis D. Taylor never showed up so well as he did on relinquishing office at Vancouver. He proved himself to be a bigger man than many people thought him. He probably made many mistakes during his term, but he dropped out like a good sportsman with good words for his successful opponent and for his city. That is a fine spirit and worthy of imitation or emulation.

BUYING THE MARKET

A number of reports have been given out from time to time that the big United States publishers have secured a controlling interest in paper mills or groups of mills in order to insure a steady supply. Today it is reported that the owners of Canadian paper mills are launching out into the publishing business in order to insure a steady market for their product. Recently the supply of paper has been greater than the demand and the result has been a big drop in prices.

In the paper business, at any rate, it has always been considered that the material was produced to supply a demand that existed. If the paper makers propose to try to increase the demand that will be a wholly new departure, much like the California people going into the fruit business and increasing the demand through the various methods of trade.

Should the paper mills decide to go into the publishing business in a wholesale way, it is difficult to speculate as to what would be the outcome. There would, it seems, very soon be literary dispepsia which might prove disastrous to the country.

CANADA LOANING MONEY

Canada has until the past few years been a borrowing country. Today she is loaning more than she borrows. In fact, this has been true for several years past. During the past four years there has been an excess of money export over import. Last year Canadians invested in the States twenty-five million dollars more than Americans invested in Canada, but this is less than in 1927, when the excess was said to have been thirty million. The highest year was in 1925, when Canadians sent out $150,000,000 more than came in.

Today we find Canadians more inclined to invest their money at home, which is an excellent trait. If it continues it will tend to much greater development and to increased prosperity.
