BECOMES "TURKEY KING" IN TWO YEARS

Two years after Jesse Throssell went to British Columbia from Bedford, England, under the caused a real storm. The fall 3,000 family settlement scheme, he became the "Turkey King of the Fraser Valley," From two pure bred hen turkeys and one tom turkey which he procured in England, Mr , Throssell bred a flock of more than 600 birds in 1928 which commanded the highest prices in the British Columbia markets. He also carried off all the prizes at the Vancouver Winter Fair. The "Turkey King" recently shipped a number of his turkeys to Australia for breeding purposes. He estimates that his 1929 flock will return him approximately $5,000. The above picture shows him on his farm in the Fraser Valley with part of his great flock, while inset is one of his prize birds.
