Further adjournment has been made of a case in which A. Richmond is charged with dealing in furs without a fur trader's license. Pending hearing of the case, some $400 worth of furs, which were seized on December 6, are being held by the authorities. L. W. Patmore is appearing for the defence It is claimed by Mr. Richmond that he was unable to get a license owing to the game warden; not being in town when he made application. He was told to go head, he says, until the license was granted.

Sport Chat

With two teams-Canadian Legion and Native Sons of Canadaalready entered, Smithers fans are looking forward to seeing some lively hockey games this winter. In addition to these two teams, it is thought there will be sufficient material for a third speedy lineup. The quires room and board in pri- Smithers skating rink went into use for the first time this winter last (304) week-end. It is expected that league hockey play will get under way early in the New Year. An encouraging feature of the hockey situation in Smithers is the large number of players available for the junior division.

> The curling season has opened at Smithers and regular league games are expected to commence at once. The ice there should soon be in fine shape for the use of the knights of the broom. A meeting will be held shortly to draw for skips when teams will be selected for the interrink bonspiels. With the experience of two years, it is also hoped to be able to select a team to participate in outside bonspiels and in this way increase the interest in curling.

> The 1930 basketball season in Smithers will be ushered in with a New Year treat for supporters of the hoop game, when Terrace teams will invade Smithers for a two-game series on January 1 and 2. Arrangements are being made to play a game in Telkwa on Saturday evening, followed by a dance. Terrace will be represented by their usual capable teams and Smithers will need to select an all-star aggregation to uphold the interior honors.
