Must Not Expect Too Much From Government Says Circular From Department

The following circular has been issued by the department of marine and fisheries in connection with radio reception:

Radio salesmen sometimes expect too much from government interference investigators. There has been considerable dissatisfaction in the past, among a number of broadcast listeners, largely due to the attitude of radio salesmen, who, in their efforts to make a sale, where interference is considerable, will give the prospective purchaser to understand that the dollar license fee which he pays to the government is for the purpose of clearing up all the noises.

When a broadcast listener demands unreasonable attention on the ground that he has paid his dollar to have all interference cleared, it should be pointed out that, although the Department is desirous of clearing all interference and is doing all in its power to arrange for the elimination of preventable interference, the dollar license fee is compulsory according to the regulations of the Radio Act passed by Parliament, and no guarantee of clearing radio interference is given with this license.

All radio equipment is required to be licensed, and the fees from the sale of licenses pass into the consolidated revenue of the country and have no bearing upon the free service rendered by the Radio Branch to broadcast listeners in investigating and arranging for the elimination of interference. The number of licenses sold does, however, have some bearing in obtaining a vote of sufficient funds from Parliament to carry out the investigation of interference. Many cases of interference, which are investigated, cost the Department several hundred dollars before the source is located and arrangements made for its elimination, and the average cost of an investigation is considerably greater than that of the cost of a receiving license. In order that the service be conducted in an economical manner, to the satisfaction of all the broadcast listeners, it is necessary that the reports of interference as a general rule be taken in the order that they are received, but arranged so that the several reports probably referring to a common source be grouped together and dealt with at one time. It, therefore, cannot be expected that each individual broadcast listener should receive immediate individual investigation of his report of interfering noises on the receiver.

It should, also, be pointed out that, at the present state of the art, it is impossible to reduce the noise level of interference in districts where electricity is used below a reasonable level, and when a receiver is used that is so sensitive that it will pick up faint broadcast signals a certain amount of noise from inductive interference should be expected. There also remain, unfortunately, a number of sources of interference for which a cure has not been found.

The Canadian Government is the only government in the world which provides such a service for the investigation and elimination of interference for the broadcast listeners. A general description of this work is given in the Annual Report of the Radio Branch.

COPPER CITY MAN BURIED

Henry Brunsing Was Old Time Settler in District, Formerly From Germany

TERRACE, May 23:—This district lost another early pioneer in the sudden passing on Sunday morning of Anthony Henry Brunsing of Copper City. The deceased man worked during Saturday but during Saturday evening he was seized with a weak spell and expired early Sunday morning, death being due to apoplexy.

Mr. Brunsing was born in Essen, Germany, but came as a child to the United States, later to Calgary, Alta., in 1903. In 1908 he came to central British Columbia, taking up a preemption on the south side of the Skeena River, near the mouth of the Copper River. Mrs. Brunsing joined him here in 1913 and they have lived here continuously since that time.
